NEWSPAPER BUILDING WRECKED BY EXPLOSION

CLOSING DAY OF THE JUBILEE EXHIBITION

Big Crowds in Attendance This Afternoon—Fine Programme of Entertainment for To-Night—Stock Judging Contest

THIS EVENING

- 8.00. Pony.

- 8.30. Carriage horses.
- 8.40. Pair of trotting ponies.
- 8.50. Pair of Shetland ponies.

- 10.45. Five-gaited saddle horse.
- 10.50. Jump.
- 11.00. Best performance over post and rail, etc.

With the first of the prevailing today, there is a feeling that the total attendance at the Jubilee Exhibition, under the auspices of the B. C. Agricultural Association, which will be brought to a close this evening, will enable the secretary to announce that the balance on the right side of the ledger is in the red, and a similarly big attendance is looked for this evening, so that it is figured that the number passing through the gates to-day will approach the record attendance on Thursday—12,000.

It is urged on all Victorians who desire the financial success of this year's show that they turn out in large numbers this evening and help to swell the receipts. On other grounds than those of local patriotism the show merits attendance, as it is universally voted the best ever held in the history of the association. The programme of an especially meritorious one.

The rain of yesterday put a damper on the closing day of the exhibition, but the result is of much interest.

In the section for those over 21, the competition was particularly close, the award being as follows: 1, W. M. Bamford, Chilliwack, and Felix Gulchou, Port Guichon (equal); 3, P. H. Wilson, Chilliwack, and James Higginson, Chilliwack (equal); 5, C. Fetterly, Chilliwack; 6, J. W. Morrison, Westholme.

The award for the young men under 21 was as follows: 1, Percy Grimmer, Pender Island; 2, Alex Brethour, 48 Garbally road, Victoria; 3, Charles E. Newby, Sardis; 4, A. McAllister, Ladner.

Fruit Packing.

Public demonstrations of the proper method of packing fruit were given in the main building on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by R. B. Denny and C. B. Cartwright of the provincial department of agriculture. The stand was surrounded at each demonstration by fruit growers, eager to learn the best method now in vogue.

The systems of fruit packing demonstrated by Messrs. Denny and Cartwright were the two-two and three-two. These are the latest methods for the preserving of fruit when packed, as each apple fits into a little socket of its own. The old system was to pack the fruit in straight rows, but great difficulty was experienced in keeping the fruit, owing to the tightness with which they had to be packed in order to prevent moving.

A box of apples packed according to the new system presents a more attractive appearance than the older method. The demonstrators explained that well packed fruit sell first and at the same time demand a higher price. As the result of these instructive demonstrations it is hoped that the fruit growers will have gained considerable knowledge, and that they will follow out the new methods, placing their fruit on the market in an up-to-date

SIXTEEN EMPLOYEES ARE PROBABLY DEAD

Twenty-One Others Sustain Injuries When Office of Los Angeles Times is Destroyed—Authorities Called Upon to Investigate Disaster

(Times Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—One man is known to be dead, one is dying, fourteen are missing and certain to be dead in the ruins, and 21 are being cared for at various hospitals as the result of the explosion and fire that razed the plant of the Los Angeles Times at 1 o'clock this morning. The damage caused by the catastrophe, according to the statement of Manager H. G. Chandler of the Times this afternoon, will be close to $600,000.

So intense is the heat emanating from the smouldering mass of ruins that it is not believed the debris can be searched for bodies of the victims until to-morrow.

Although the management of the Times has employed every possible means to learn of the employees who were in the building when the explosion occurred, 14 still are unaccounted for, and it is believed there is little chance that they are not buried beneath the ruins of the building.

Police investigation of the affair is under way. The authorities refused to divulge the clues that they have unearthed.

Night Editor Churchill Harvey-Elder died in the receiving hospital early today from his injuries.

According to Managing Editor Andrews, he is almost certain that the following are dead:

J. C. Gallher, aged 46, linotype operator, married and has five children.

W. G. Tunstall, aged 45, linotype operator, married.

Fred Llewellyn, aged 45, linotype operator, married.

John Howard, aged 45, printer, married and with one child.

Grant Moore, aged 42, machinist, married and three children.

Ed. Wasson, aged 35, printer, married.

Elmer Frink, aged 25, operator, married.

Eugene Carsons, aged 35, operator, married and one child.

Don E. Johnson, aged 36, operator, married.

Ernest Jordan, aged 39, operator, married and one child.

Frank Underwood, aged 48, printer, married and one child.

J. Wesley Reaves, stenographer.

R. L. Sawyer, aged 34, telegrapher, married and two children.

Harry L. Crane, aged 38, assistant telegraph editor, married and one child.

Charles Gulliver, aged 35, compositor, married.

Carl Sallan, linotype operator, aged 32.

The injured: E. B. Aspinall, linotype operator, cut over left eye, nose cut, right wrist sprained; R. W. Crabb, foreman composing room, burned and cut with flying glass; Will Latt, stereotyper, burned about arms and back; S. G. Potts, linotype operator, jumped from window, wrist broken; G. Richmond, cut; M. Weston, cut on shoulders; Randolph Rosso, linotype operator, jumped from a second story window, abrasion of left knee, ankle sprained; Chas. Von Vleson, foreman, cut on left hand; Mrs. K. B. Ulrich, fell down elevator shaft; Albert G. Schwalm, cut back of right ear; G. L. Salada, linotype operator, cut on right hand; J. F. Link, glass cuts on head; Richard Goff, slight burns and cuts; William Austin, D. S. Douglas, L. Nelsun, N. J. Cordory, Frederick Campbell.

Charles E. Lovelace, an editorial employee of the Times, is hovering near death at the Clara Barton hospital. It was reported during the morning that he was dead. The attending physicians say he cannot live through the day.

Hurled Into Street.

The explosion occurred within a few minutes after half a hundred employees working on an early shift, had left the building. Less than a hundred persons, including the mechanical force and the editorial force, keeping "late watch" were in the building.

The explosive which caused the catastrophe evidently had been placed directly beneath the composing room. The floor of this department was lifted through the ceiling, linotype operators and compositors being hurled through the walls into the street.

Immediately the building was enveloped in a sheet of flames.

Within 10 minutes escape from the upper floors was impossible. Dozens of terrified employees leaped from the second story windows to the pavement.

Among these was Night Editor Elder. Every piece of fire apparatus in the city answered the general alarm. The flames were under control in an hour, after they had almost totally destroyed the great heap of debris resulting from the explosion.

A police drag net has been spread about the city. Two men were arrested as suspects shortly after daybreak. The police refused to reveal their names.

Officers of the North End police station, less than a block from the Times building, saw several men running from an alley in the rear of the structure a few minutes before the explosion. The explosion appeared to have centered near the alley from which the men appeared.

A folio edition of the Times was printed at a branch office this morning. It was bought up by thousands that thronged the streets in the neighborhood of the wrecked building.

Detectives at Work.

Chief of Police Galloway this morning issued the following statement:

"That the Times building was wrecked by dynamite seems certain from all my men can learn. There are about 100 patrolmen on duty at the fire now, and most of the detectives. We have found things that seem to us to point to the authors of this calamity. Whether they will end in any real result, is impossible to tell now, but I do know that whether they do or not, the police will keep at it without rest until this whole matter is laid bare."

Mayor Alexander this morning called a special meeting of the city council to discuss the explosion. He refused to state what action the council probably would take. Chief of Police Galloway and the councilmen were summoned by messengers and ordered to report at the council chambers in the city hall at once.

"All I can say now regarding this awful thing, is that every department of the city government will be called upon to do its share to sift the matter to the bottom. If human agency was responsible for this, we will find it out," said Mayor Alexander.

The explosion occurred at 1:07 this morning. Clocks in adjacent buildings were stopped at that hour.

The detonation was heard for miles around the city. The concussion shattered windows for a radius of several blocks.

Within five minutes after the first explosion, which appeared to be followed by other convulsions, the entire building was a mass of flames.

Leap From Windows.

The windows of the upper floors were quickly crowded with terrified men and women. Two men, apparently running from the terrible flames within, plunged like hurdlers through a third floor window, both falling between the street car tracks 41 feet away. They crumpled and broken bodies were quickly surrounded by gaping crowds. The police were compelled to use night sticks to force back the mob.

Men rushed from twisted doorways, useless arms dangling at their sides, and in several cases their faces scarred and blistered almost beyond recognition.

Within 20 minutes wives and mothers of the men who were at work in the building were hysterically beseeching the police lines. Tears of joy when some loved one joined an anxiety-stricken group on the outside of the building were mingled with the cries of anguish from other women's lips when they were led to where broken and unconscious bodies lay awaiting hospital ambulances.

When the firemen arrived nets were quickly stretched beneath the windows. At least a dozen lives were saved by these contrivances.

For many years the Times has waged relentless war on organized labor. Strained relations have existed between General Harrison Gray Otis and the labor leaders ever since organized labor began to be a factor in the development of the city.

Recently, according to Managing Editor Andrews, these relations have almost reached the breaking point since the precipitation of the brewers workers' strike here six months ago. Less than a month ago a stand of 50 Springfield rifles was purchased and installed in the tower room in the fourth floor of the building. This fact had been kept secret. It was admitted by Andrews to-day.

Last week a case of sawed-off shot-guns, which had stood in the editor's office was moved into the reporters' room.

Charge by Management.

That the Times-management is sincere in its charges that human agency was responsible for the holocaust, is borne out by the following statements printed in the folio edition of the paper issued this morning:

"It reeked little to the man who placed the bombs which wrecked a splendid newspaper plant that 100 men

DEATHS MARK AUTO RACE

THREE KILLED ON VANDERBILT CUP COURSE

Four Others Fatally Injured—Racers Run Down Touring Cars and Spectators

(Times Leased Wire.)

Motor Parkway, L. I., Oct. 1.—Four persons were killed, four fatally injured and an unknown number less seriously hurt in the running of the Vanderbilt cup race to-day which was won by Grant in an Alco car.

One car was destroyed by fire, another turned a somersault after striking a touring car, and scores of minor accidents, attended the event.

The Dead.

William Bacon, mechanic, Columbia car.

Ferdinand D'Ziueva, spectator.

Charles Miller, mechanic Chevrolet's car.

An unidentified man, struck by car.

The injured: Harold Hall, mechanic, body crushed; Harold Stone, driver, Columbia car; Martin Levinson, spectator, both legs and body crushed; Joseph Cook, spectator, skull fractured; Thomas Miller, spectator, legs ground off; —Potter, spectator, ribs broken; August Gramutan, chauffeur, internally hurt; William Peterson, spectator, face crushed in, skull fractured; Louis Chevrolet, driver Marquette Buick, bruises; Mrs. Ferdinand D'Ziueva, leg broken; Mrs. Potter, spectator, internally hurt; August Seeback, spectator, cut, bruised; Edward H. Brown, spectator, hip dislocated; Canell Rice, spectator, broken leg; five women in car struck by Chevrolet, injuries unknown; five passengers in D'Ziueva car, injuries unknown.

Conditions at the course were almost chaotic. Ambulances hurried the injured from the scene and drove them to hospitals. In many cases the names of the injured and dying were not known to the hospital authorities who treated them.

Through all the chaos the cars surged forward around the course drivers out-doing each other in reckless speed. Speeding racers did not stop when accidents occurred. Touring cars and spectators were hit by the racers and the speeding cars, if they kept the course at all, plunged ahead regardless of the victims left behind.

The car driven by Stone crashed into a telegraph pole. It was at first reported that Stone had been killed. The hospital that gave out the information that Stone was dead has officially stated that Bacon, the mechanic, was killed and that Stone was fatally hurt. The identity of the two men was confused when they were taken to the hospital.

Chevrolet's accident occurred at the Hicksville turn. His car skidded and

MORE LARGE PAVING WORKS

CONTRACTS AGGREGATING $100,000 TO BE LET

Quadra Street is to be Treated With Asphalt From Pandora to Hillside Avenue

(Times Leased Wire.)

More important paving contracts, the material to be asphalt, were decided upon at last evening's meeting of the streets committee of the city council. The streets to be dealt with are Quadra from Blanchard to Pandora avenue, and Quadra between Pandora avenue and Hillside avenue. On the first mentioned section the roadway will be 42 feet between curbs and the latter and larger section 32 feet between curbs. The costs are respectively, $41,252 and $59,583; and the city's share, respectively, being $7,800 and $10,832.

City Engineer Smith submitted a report giving the cost as above, and it was decided to call for tenders. Other clauses in the engineer's report which were adopted were as follows:

At the junction of Hillside avenue and Fifth avenue is the head of a large surface drain, 2 feet 10 inches in diameter. From this point westerly along the north side of Hillside avenue to a lane between Work street and Fourth street there is a 10 inch surface drain. This 10 inch surface drain should be extended westerly to Rose or First street, at an estimated cost of $650.

There is a large surface drain on Michigan street, emptying into the sea on the west side of St. Lawrence street. This drain is 3 feet by 4 feet 6 inches in diameter, and runs from the sea, across St. Lawrence street, along

DYNAMITERS AT LOS ANGELES

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO WRECK HOUSE

Infernal Machine Found Beneath Porch—Police Are Investigating

(Times Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—E. J. Zeehandelaar, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Los Angeles, reported to the police this morning that dynamite had been discovered beneath a porch at his home in the suburbs in this city.

Officers who were sent to the Zeehandelaar home found 14 sticks of dynamite jelly connected by wires with a battery, concealed in an adjacent clump of bushes.

Detectives were immediately put on the case and the explosive taken to police headquarters for evidence.

The dynamite sticks were connected with the electric battery to which was attached an alarm clock.

According to the police, it was one of the most ingenious infernal machines that ever was brought to the attention of the local department. The alarm was set to go off at 1 o'clock, the hour at which the explosion at the Times building occurred.

The clock was so tightly wound, the police who took charge of the machine said, that the alarm was prevented from working, probably saving the lives of every person in the home.

The machine was found this morning by Miss Elizabeth Wilder, a guest at the Zeehandelaar home.

FAST TRAVELLING.

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 1.—The Michigan Central has added to its record-breaking runs with fast trains, covering the distance between St. Thomas and Windsor on the Canada Southern division 113 miles in 52 minutes. The average for the run figures as just 80 miles per hour but part of the distance was negotiated at 88 miles per hour.

OFFICER IMPROVING.

(Special to the Times.)

Aldershot, Oct. 1.—Capt. George of the Queen's Own Rifles is still seriously ill with typhoid fever here, but he shows a marked improvement. Lieuts. Muntz and George are convalescent.

EMIGRANTS FOR CANADA.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Oct. 1.—The Salvation Army received this year 100,000 applications for emigration to Canada, but only 10,000 of the applicants were sent. The city first conducted party left to-day.

CUSTOMS RETURNS SHOW GREAT ADVANCEMENT

New Record is Constituted Double Last Year—Many Chinese Paid Head Tax

Further proof of Victoria's remarkable growth is shown by the customs returns for the month of August, which are far in advance of any previous record. The returns, which total $297,533.37, show a betterment of nearly thirty-five thousand dollars over the preceding month. They are also more than double the returns for the corresponding month of last year.

A large number of Chinese paid the head tax and this is practically due to the great increase in the figures. The duties are also very high.

Following are the returns:

Duties ..... $123,800.27

Chinese ..... 183,697.00

Other charges ..... 86.10

Total ..... $297,533.37

on the spirits of the crowd to some extent, but the management rose to the occasion and provided a fine list of indoor attractions, and the grandstand was, besides, thrown open to the general public. The stock parade proved especially interesting and there were keenly-contested horse races. The grand steeplechase race, in which there is keen interest, is in progress this afternoon.

Besides the horse show for this evening, all the buildings will be looking their best and special musical programmes will be rendered. The circus, which concludes its engagement this evening, will doubtless draw large crowds to the closing performances.

The results of the stock judging competition held yesterday morning in the new show pavilion are as appended.

WILL NOT TAKE ACTION.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—Herr Von Jagow, in answering an appeal for redress from the British and American journalists, declined to take action against the officers who made the attacks on them. He says the correspondents acted courageously but against police regulations in entering riotous crowds.

LAND SALES.

(Special to the Times.)

London, Oct. 1.—The land sales of the Hudson's Bay Co. for the quarter ending September 30 amounted to £50,000 as compared with £251,700 for the same period last year.

were at work on the various floors, busily engaged in getting out the great newspaper, that the instant the bombs were exploded their lives were in peril; that as a result of the hellish work lives, precious to wives, children and relatives, were in deadly peril. They did the work for which they were intended, at least temporarily, to cripple a great newspaper.

"It would seem that there was no escape. The murderers had planned with hellish cunning."

At the request of Mayor Alexander the Los Angeles union leaders this morning announced that they called off the union labor parade intended as a welcome to the delegates to the state convention here next Monday night. This, they stated, was done expressly because of the explosion at the Times building and because of their disinclination to exhibit a spirit of festivity so near the time when the city had been visited by a terrible calamity.

The Times building was a four-story brick and stone structure at the intersection of First street and Broadway. It was completely razed by the explosion and fire.

According to the statement of Managing Editor Andrews, the loss will exceed $500,000.

Received Threats.

Managing Editor Harry S. Andrews this morning issued the following statement, containing the charge that "enemies of industrial freedom" were responsible for the Times' disaster:

"The Times building was destroyed by dynamite early this morning by the enemies of industrial freedom. The Times itself cannot be destroyed. It will soon be re-ignited from its auxiliary plant, and will fight its battles to the end. The horrors of the loss of life and maiming of men precludes my further statement at this trembling hour.

(Signed) Harry S. Andrews, managing editor Los Angeles Times."

Managing Editor Andrews supplemented the statement by saying:

"Dynamite and bombs and fire. Very fitting weapons for such a deed. We had received numerous threats that this dastardly deed would be attempted. The elements that conspired to perpetrate the horror must not be permitted to prosecute their unlawful campaign."

Unions Will Aid Police.

The following statement was issued this morning by C. F. Grow, business agent of the Machinists' lodge, number 311 International Association of Machinists:

"I desire to state that the unfortunate happening at the Times plant caused the sympathy of every union man in the city of Los Angeles for the loss of life and the injury to employees. That any man affiliated with the labor unions here could have anything to do with this explosion and fire, is out of the question. We make no war with bombs or other weapons than the usual propaganda. We fight the enemies of union labor under the recognized economic laws. Violence has always been condemned and we do not recognize that as a means of success. The unions here are ready and anxious to aid the police and other authorities by every means in their power to find the cause of the explosion at the Times building."

Deny Charges.

Through George Gurney, who has been in charge of the Brewers' and Ironworkers' strike here, the Los Angeles unionists this morning issued a statement branding as utterly without foundation the charges published by the Times to the effect that union men were responsible for the explosion.

"We deeply deplore the terrible accident and resultant loss of life," the statement reads, "but brand as false the charges that union men were in any way responsible for the affair.

"We condemn violence, and unambiguously deny that any person or persons connected with organized labor had anything to do with last night's outrage."

Demand Investigation.

Ralph Criswell, president of the Los Angeles branch of the Typographical union, visited the office of District Attorney Fredericks this morning and demanded, in behalf of his organization, that the explosion be thoroughly investigated. By authority of the board of the local Typographical union, President Criswell sent the following to Manager H. G. Chandler, of the Times:

"In view of the deplorable accident resulting in the demolition of the Times plant, the Los Angeles branch of the International Typographical union hereby offers you every assistance in every manner desirable in publishing the Times during this period of stress."

Differences between the Times and the Typographical union were responsible for the first breach between the Times and organized labor generally, which later developed into open warfare. In view of the fact that the Times, in its edition published after the explosion, charged that the unionists were responsible, Criswell declared that the members of the Typographical union would assist the district attorney in any way he asked in sifting the affair.

The Times appears under a seven-column banner head: "Unionists' bombs wreck Times."

Criswell stated that if any union men were employed in the Times' mechanical departments they were in the building when the explosion occurred. He refused to admit that union men were employed at the Times. The paper was supposed generally to make no exceptions in its open shop rules and no union men were supposed to be employed there.

A member of the local Stereotypers' union said to-day that four of the stereotypers employed by the Times were union men. Each of the four, he declared, is missing.

The city council this morning in executive session, appropriated $25,000 to be used to investigate the explosion that wrecked the Times building. Resolutions were passed demanding a thorough sifting of the affair.

General Otis, owner of the Times wired to-day as follows:

Imperial Junction, Cal.,
 October 1, 1910.

"Harry Chandler, the Times, Los Angeles.

"Your wire, with its terrible news, only reached me this morning. Am amazed at the desperation of the criminal conspirators in destroying the Times building and slaying its loyal defenders, whose loss I deeply deplore, but the Times will live on, bravely defending the vital and essential principle of industrial freedom under the law, which must yet triumph in the entire nation. I will be home at 3:30. Meet me at the station.

(Sgd.) HARRISON GRAY OTIS."

The United States is all right, you know, but Uncle Sam's doctors have not found a cure for serious Kidney Trouble. When sick folks down there want to get well, they send to Canada for Gin Pills.

At least, that is the way Mr. H. S. Ball, of Oxford, Ohio, was cured of a bad case of Kidney Disease.

Mr. Ball took the usual remedies prescribed by the doctors, and wore plasters, and was rubbed with liniments—but steadily grew worse. In a letter to his daughter, who lived in Canada, Mr. Ball wrote of his serious condition. His daughter immediately sent him two boxes of Gin Pills, which did him so much good that he knew he had found the right remedy at last.

New York, Oct. 1.—Col. Roosevelt, accompanied by Representative Longworth, his son-in-law, returned to New York by automobile late yesterday. Col. The court overruled Mr. Bodwell's objection. Proceeding, Mr. Taylor showed by the production of Dr. Spencer's answers on examination for discovery that he (Dr. Spencer) knew nothing whatever of anaesthesia. Counsel asked witness if he thought such a man fit to be an examiner.

Mr. Roosevelt, addressing the National Republican League in session at Carnegie hall yesterday, delivered his first speech of the state campaign. He compared the Republican state convention with the Democratic convention now being held at Rochester, and on the strength of his comparison said he felt that the Republicans had the right to appeal to every citizen in the state without regard to party. The Saratoga gathering he characterized as a "people's convention, free from the influences of special interests."

The re-examination of Dr. Jordan was concluded. Mr. Taylor put in as evidence a resolution on the minute books of the Dental College wherein it was provided that all papers should be kept for the period of one year, in order that they might be reproduced should necessity so arise. Subsequently he put in the greater portion of Dr. Verrinder's testimony in examination on discovery, relating to the destruction of the papers.

"In the first place, that we stand, not timidly, not half way, but aggressively, for honesty in public and in business life. In the next place, that we stand for governmental efficiency, and in the third place that we stand for the right of the people to control themselves and not to be controlled by someone else."

Mr. Taylor submitted to him this paper and he testified as to the questions, which were taken up seriatim. An interesting phase of this witness's testimony was his production of jars containing common cultures in media, prepared from formulae which had been mentioned by Dr. Richards in answering the questions of the board of examiners. Witness would have given Dr. Richards full marks for his answer to the question which had been put to him.

Deribing the Democratic convention now sitting, he read: "All day and night the Democratic leaders have been going, hat in hand, to Mr. Murphy and asking him humbly to favor this or that candidate."

he first appeared before them that he had received money from Browne and Wilson "because he was afraid of getting his friends into trouble."

He said that Lorimer was not mentioned when the money was passed. He admitted that he was not in the habit of receiving $1,000 presents but was not surprised when Browne gave him the money. He added that Browne said when paying him: "This is coming to you, Mike." Link said he carefully counted the money because he wanted to see what the present was worth.

That Senator Lorimer made him personal promises providing he would "vote right," was the testimony of State Representative Shepard.

"Lorimer promised to give me the appointment of a postmastership," said Shepard, "in return for my vote. I was to be allowed to name the postmaster at Jerseyville."

Shepard added that he voted for Lorimer and that he now expected a postmastership appointment for a friend he had named. He said that early in the year he had had a hard fight in his district and was offered help if he would "vote right" for United States senator.

Shepard also testified that Lee O'Neil Browne promised him the postmastership if he would vote for Lorimer.

MAKE GARDEN CITY.

Sir Henry Vivian is gone, and the people have had time to think over what he said. He is still preaching his gospel of better building of big cities.

There is a tendency in this new country to ignore regulations in regard to the size of lots, with the result that houses are often unduly crowded. In Vancouver this has been done to an extent which is inexcusable.

ADVERTISING MORE EFFECTIVE THAN TARIFFS.

The members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which met recently in Vancouver dealt very gingerly with the tariff question, in which they are the most deeply interested of all the people of Canada.

also gives point to the demands of the agriculturists of Canada. The fact is quite evident that this is no time for giving expression to the acknowledged aspirations of protectionists of the extreme order.

Giving wholesome counsel to the Canadian Manufacturers, the Ottawa Free Press pertinently points out that more advertising, rather than more tariff, is what the Canadian manufacturers need.

"Imports from the United States keep mounting up. The invasion of our manufacturing field by Americans goes on apace with the invasion of the prairies of the west by farmers from the United States."

"Many Canadian firms are just as well organized and just as aggressive. Many of them are extensive advertisers in proportion to the size of their field. Many put out advertising just as effective and brainy as any in the United States."

"But Canadian manufacturers as a whole are not as aggressive as they should be. There is a tendency on the part of many towards letting the tariff take care of us. Their goods are branded, perhaps, but the makers do not tell the people why they should demand the brand."

A GREAT DEMOCRAT.

There has been no greater surprise sprung on the aristocracy of Great Britain than the recent favors shown by King George to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lloyd George. It is said by those in a position to know that the Chancellor has no greater friend in the kingdom than the King.

PRESS OPINIONS

Fine Discretion. The Manufacturers' Association will leave the question of a tariff campaign to the discretion of a committee. Discretion is better than valor just now, when the grain-growers are on the warpath.—London Advertiser.

Begin Right. "If you want to govern a city right start with the heads of departments and end with them." These words might be inscribed on the fleshy tablets of Toronto's heart by the unerring hand of experience.—Toronto Telegram.

The use of such epithets as "sour," "silly" and "insane" are signs of weakness. They are used only when argument fails.

The Colonist suggests that it has treated Hon. William Templeman with great courtesy and fairness since the election. It could not do otherwise. The remembrance of the foul blow dealt at that time made it impossible to do otherwise.

A Newzealander touring Canada in an interview at Winnipeg recently spoke, with contempt of the "Little Englanders." It is so long since we had heard the term that we had forgotten there were any. We doubt if there are many to-day.

It is curious that Mr. McBride should have to consult with the Great Northern Railway Company officials before an announcement in regard to the Island Railway can be made. We all remember that the agreement with the company was signed and definitely settled before the elections last spring, and yet negotiations are still going on.

Mon. W. S. Fielding is beginning to feel the effects of too strict attention to duty. The Finance Minister is undoubtedly the hardest-working as well as the most practical and the ablest administrator of his very important department Canada has ever had.

E. B. Paul, superintendent of the Victoria City schools explains that the reason Thursday was not declared a public holiday was because the B. C. Agricultural Association asked for Tuesday and it was thought unwise to break up the work by giving Thursday, and that it was only when it was found that the attendance was so small that it was decided to disband the children directly after they assembled on Thursday afternoon.

Complaints have been freely circulated lately with reference to the street car service between the city and its western suburbs. The justice of these complaints was forcibly impressed upon me this morning on being forced to wait for a car almost as long as it would have taken to walk the distance.

The irritation which the delay in question would have provoked was, however, avoided in consequence of my accidental selection of a waiting point near which a number of gentlemen—apparently city aldermen—were discussing the question of the proposed university.

BEATRICE GOES ASHORE IN FOG

C. P. R. SKAGWAY LINER GROUNDS IN NARROWS

Passengers Taken Off by Charming Vessel is Undamaged and She Will Float Off To-day

(Times Leased Wire.) Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 1.—The C. P. R. steamer Princess Beatrice, bound north from Victoria to Skagway, Alaska, via Vancouver, grounded in the first narrows at 6.30 a.m. to-day in a dense fog. Six passengers aboard were transferred to the Charming, which brought them to Vancouver. No damage was done to the vessel. She is now resting easy on an even keel and will be floated at noon to-day this afternoon.

The Princess Beatrice left here shortly before midnight for Vancouver on her way to Skagway, with six passengers and considerable freight, including 50 tons of merchandise intended for interior Alaskan points. She was to load further Dawson freight at Vancouver, it being expected that she would connect with the train for White Horse at Skagway in time to catch the last boat of the season leaving the first-named point for Dawson. At present it is impossible to say how many hours the accident will delay her, but every effort will be made to have her reach Skagway, where she is due October 5th, on time. Messages to the local officials confirm the statement that the Beatrice is resting easy, undamaged, and that she will float with the rising tide this afternoon.

MAROOED ON ISLAND FOR FORTY-FIVE DAYS

Duluth Trapper Undergoes Many Hardships Before He is Rescued by Steamer

(Special to the Times.) Sioux Lookout, Ont., Oct. 1.—George Ford has come back to civilization after being marooned on an island in Lake Simcoe for 45 days. He had a terrible experience and his nervous system is still in bad shape. Ford came up from Duluth to prospect and trap along English river, but was deserted by a companion who took their boat, both guns, all valuables and a large share of provisions. Ford did his best to attract the attention of a Hudson's Bay Co. steamer which passed occasionally, but was foiled many times. Finally he changed the location of his camp and lighted a huge fire. A steamer then bore down on his improvised home and rescued him. The police are looking for the false friend who deserted him.

There was a reference to the matter at last evening's meeting of the streets committee, the city solicitor reporting that there was really no by-law in existence which would enable the council to take the stand that such a building constitutes a nuisance. The mayor felt impelled to have the council placed in the position of saying that the building if erected would not constitute a nuisance to the people living in the locality. No definite decision was reached by the members in attendance at the meeting as to whether it would be wise to issue the permit.

For the first nine months of the year the permits issued totalled $1,432,525, for the corresponding period last year. The permits issued during September totalled $190,685, compared with $140,935 last year. For the nine months the total number of permits issued was 583, as compared with 456 a year ago.

—The Children's Aid Society thankfully acknowledges the following gifts for the month of September: Peas, Mrs. Bromley; coats, Mrs. Fraser; books, pictures and apples, Mrs. Pemberton; canvas and wool, Miss West; gifts of books, fruit, flowers, etc., from various friends, never weary in well-doing, who request that their names should not appear. Many kindly visits have been enjoyed, especially those of former day school teachers of the inmates, to whom the invitation to come again is gladly extended. The work of the Home is progressing steadily.

—The people of Victoria West will be rejoiced to learn that as a result of a recommendation made by the city engineer at last evening's meeting of the streets committee of the city council an immediate move will be made in the direction of improving conditions in the neighborhood of the marshy area known as "Skinner's Bottom." During each wet season adjacent houses have been flooded with the overflow of water. The engineer proposes to remedy the matter in a temporary fashion by making a large ditch at an estimated cost of $300.

FIFTH REGIMENT INSTRUCTION CLASS

School Commences on Monday Evening in Charge of Major Ridgway Wilson

With the advent of October and long evenings the members of the Fifth Regiment are beginning to turn their thoughts—once more to drill.

The usual school of instruction commences on Monday next at 8 p. m. sharp, and will be in charge of the adjutant, with the assistance of capable instructors from Work Point barracks. All those who are desirous of improving themselves or of obtaining promotion are notified to report at the drill hall at the time appointed, in uniform, and thereafter three evenings a week for the six weeks the school lasts.

It is useless for men to commence unless they are prepared to attend regularly in uniform and be sharp on time, as they not only obtain little advantage themselves but disorganize the school for the others, and will be struck out.

Last year the school was well attended all through and it is expected there will be at least as many this year, as several appointments to acting rank were approved on the understanding that the appointees would qualify at this school, falling which they revert to their lower rank, all acting rank being cancelled.

The full syllabus for the course will be posted in the drill hall on Monday evening, when any other information required can be obtained from the officer in charge.

UNITARIAN MEETING.
Rev. H. E. Kellington, New Westminster, who for some time has had ministerial charge over the Unitarian church work here, will preach his farewell sermon to-morrow evening, as he will leave immediately for Berkeley, Cal., to complete his post-graduate course at the University of California. His place will be taken in a few weeks by Rev. Frank W. Pratt, the Canadian superintendent of Unitarian missions. Mr. Pratt, who is now in Calgary, will probably spend the winter with the churches in Victoria and Vancouver. Since these churches were organized, less than a year ago, they have made considerable progress, and it is expected that after Mr. Pratt shall have spent the winter here he will be succeeded by regular ministers, under whose direction church buildings will be erected and the work be carried forward.

"Wagner and His Message to the World," is the title of an address to be delivered by Mrs. A. C. Chappell, late of London, Eng., on the evening of October 13. The address will be illustrated by orchestral accompaniments. Some of the best musical talent of Victoria will contribute to the high quality of the event. A full announcement will be made later.

REGIMENTAL ORDERS.
The following regimental orders by Lieut.-Colonel A. W. Currie, commanding the Fifth Regiment, C. G. A., are promulgated by Major and Adjutant W. Ridgway Wilson:

Suspended—The following men are suspended in accordance with the terms of regimental order No. 11, 1909, paragraph 1: Grs. Wm. Watson and James Watson.

Parade—The regiment will parade at the drill hall on Tuesday, October 11, at 8 p. m. Dress: Drill order.

Cap covers—The wearing of white cap covers will be discontinued from this date until further orders.

School of instruction—Those men who are desirous of attending the school of instruction will parade on Monday next, October 3, at 8 p. m. in uniform. The school will be in charge of the adjutant. A syllabus of the course may be seen on the notice board.

Officers' meeting—The regular monthly meeting of the officers' mess will be held in the drill hall on Thursday, October 13, at 2.30 p. m. Dress: Muff.

CRIED DAY AND NIGHT

Mrs. R. E. Sanford, Inverary, Ont., writes: "My baby was sickly for over a week with bowel and stomach trouble and cried night and day. Nothing I did helped her in the least till I began giving her Baby's Own Tablets. They helped baby right away and now she is a big healthy child with fine rosy cheeks. The Tablets are certainly a wonderful medicine and I recommend them to all my friends who have children in the house."
"What Baby's Own Tablets have done for Mrs. Sanford's baby they do for thousands of other little ones, simply because they go to the root of so many childhood ailments—that is, they drive all impurities from the stomach and leave it sweet and healthy. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PROVINCIAL HOCKEY LEAGUE MEETS HERE

Delegates From Five Clubs Tonight at Balmoral Hotel to Transact Business

The annual general meeting of the Provincial Hockey League will take place to-night at 8 o'clock at the Balmoral hotel. All members are requested by Secretary C. J. Paget-Ford to be on hand and take part in the formation of the winter schedule for the hockey cup.

The cup is now held by Vancouver, the club having won it two years in succession, and under the deed of gift has only to win it once more when it becomes the property of the club for all time.

It is to prevent the cup taking a permanent resting place in the Terminal City that hockey men are at last bestirring themselves to some extent in Victoria, and the local teams are determined, if skill and condition can wrest the trophy from Vancouver, that it will be accomplished this year.

In the provincial league this year the secretary announces that a new factor will be found in Westminster. The Royal City is sending a delegate to place its entry to-night and there are representatives coming from Vancouver and North Vancouver clubs. The Victoria clubs are Victoria, Garrison and the newly-formed J. B. A. A. team, all of which should be represented at the meeting to-night.

WOLGAST RECEIVES INJURY TO LEFT ARM

(Times Leased Wire.)
Fond Du Lac, Wis., Sept. 30.—Eight fans are accepting with bad grace the announcement that Champion Ad Wolgast will be out of the game for several months because of an injured left arm, and many are inclined to the belief that the Milwaukee scrapper is "stalling."
Wolgast says that a glancing blow on Tommy McFarland's head, during their bout last night, re-opened an old injury, and he would not again enter the ring until it had thoroughly healed.

KEEN CONTESTS AT HORSE SHOW

DESPITE RAIN LARGE ATTENDANCE PRESENT

D. C. McGregor Beat Holland and Howe Entries in Pairs—Fox Catcher's High Jump

Large entries, the competitors being in many cases the horses which have appeared in former contests but under different conditions, were the order at the horse show last night, where, despite the very adverse weather conditions, there was almost as large an attendance of people as on Thursday, the opening night.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Patterson was present again in the central box, with a party of eight. J. A. Russell, Vancouver, and a large party occupied the next box. Other parties present were: Hon. C. E. Pooley and party, Mr. E. Burns, J. A. Smart and party, George A. Fraser and party, Mrs. Robert-Dunn, Jr., and party of ladies; Mrs. D. Spencer, junior; Mrs. E. R. Roberts, H. Ross, W. S. Holland, Vancouver, and party; L. C. McGregor and party, Vancouver, and many others.

Attached to three of the many prettily decorated boxes last night were the award cards for the competition in private box decorations. The first award was won by Mrs. Dave Spencer, Flewlin's Gardens gaining second, and J. A. Robb, third.

Shortly after eight o'clock Dr. Grenside entered the ring and the first class was judged, the Inverholme Stock Farm securing the first blue ribbon of the evening with a magnificent four-horse team. In the four-horse team, 1,400 pounds and over, J. Richards of Victoria was given the second award.

The second event was for 1,200 pound mares or geldings shown to heavy delivery van, F. R. Stewart & Company providing the winner.

Seven contestants entered the ring in section 24, for mare or gelding shown to gig, and Brigham Pearl was selected eventually from Warwick Dora for first place. This event drew some of the most stylish horses of the show, and the same horses were seen later in the evening when paired in the demi-mall double harness event.

Among the entries are a number of perfect steppers, the Howe, McGregor, and Holland entries, all from Vancouver, offering a splendid exhibition for horse-lovers, while the drivers in each gave exhibitions of driving the single and double harness horses as well as forth loud applause from the audience.

The single horse event was won by Mr. Howe's entry, with Warwick Dora second, owned by Mr. McGregor, and W. S. Holland's "Sweet Briar" third.

In the saddle-horse class nine entered the ring and a handsome, upstanding five-year-old, "Waterford," obtained the blue, Mrs. P. Burns on "Never Mind," getting second, and "Ideal Derby" third. "Big Star," a nice-looking six-year-old, was exhibited but under the guiding hand of S. Perry Mills did not appreciate the order to canter, consequently was not placed. The rider, however, was loudly applauded, there being much hand-clapping as he circled the ring. "Belle Star" entered the ring first and one of the judges motioned to the orchestra for the music.

Mare or geldings to demi-mall produced three splendid teams and Dr. Grenside was a long time coming to a decision as to the respective merits of D. C. McGregor's beautiful "Warwick Dora" and "Warwick Graceful" as against W. S. Holland's "Cuiraven Queen" and "Sweet Briar," which had won the Victoria event the opening night.

The judge drove each team personally and sent them round the ring a second time, where Mr. McGregor gave a grand exhibition of driving, coming round the corners on two wheels and keeping his horses in the straight. He was given the blue and the verdict was immensely popular. The third prize went to Mr. Howe's entry, which was placed second in the Victoria pair Thursday night.

The high jump was, unfortunately for many of the patrons who had to leave, brought on late. The event resolved itself into a contest between the well-known Fox Catcher, Muskrat and Flash. Each horse was given three trials at five feet, after which the bar was raised six inches, and from that time three inches at every jump. There were six entries in all, but Earlene, Mrs. D. Spencer's entry, refused to jump at six and was the first disqualified. Muskrat was Fox Catcher's nearest competitor, jumping without fault except once, when he fell while rising and broke the barrier, at the same time almost throwing his rider. Fox Catcher's perfect performance was awarded first, with Muskrat second and Flash third.

During the novice class of carriage horses Minnie M., driven by Miss Fullerton, broke away and galloped for the exit. Accident and collision were avoided by the cool-headedness of the ring attendant, W. Lorimer, who dashed forwards and captured the excited and uncontrollable animal as its head struck the gate. There were only two entries in the event, Nancy Medina getting first.

The results in full are as follows:—
Never in the history of the race have there been so many minor injuries. Spectators stepping too near the flying cars were knocked down. Men were run over in the full sight of the grand stand.
Grant's time for the race was 4:15.58. Dawson, in a Marmon, was second, finishing 25 seconds behind Grant, and Atkins, in a National, third.
F. A. L. machines won first and second places in the Wheatley Hill's sweepstakes. The race itself, in which there were 31 starters, was one of the most exciting that was ever run over the Long Island course.
William K. Vanderbilt announced today that the Grand Prix would be run over the Vanderbilt course October 15. The list of deaths and accidents in today's event, he said, would not interfere with this event. He pronounced today's race the greatest in the history of the Vanderbilt cup.

PRUDENTIAL INVESTMENT CO. ISSUES PREFERENCE STOCK.

Successful Operations to Be Extended—Seven Per Cent. Dividends—Shares Easy to Buy.

With a total surplus of $438,145.80 at the present time, the Prudential Investment Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B. C., will issue one million dollars of 7 per cent. preference stock. This important step was decided upon by the directors at their meeting of August 26th, 1910.

The success of the company's operations in the comparatively brief time it has been organized is indicated by this splendid surplus that has been accumulated. The subscribed common stock of the company now amounts to $75,000, and will very soon reach the full authorized amount of one million dollars. Of this sum almost $500,000 is already paid up.

With the present surplus and subscribed capital, the company is in an excellent strong position to offer security and generous returns to investors by the issue of this $1,000,000 of seven per cent. cumulative preference stock. The purchaser of this new preference stock, in reading this record of success, invests because he sees the future of the company as indicated by its past.

The investment opportunity is the more inviting by reason of the very large terms of payment. Five per cent. of the total amount is payable in cash, and the balance at the rate of five per cent. quarterly. The seven per cent. dividend is payable on the money actually paid in. If, for any reason, a dividend is not declared in any one year, the shareholder is entitled to receive the dividend for that year with succeeding dividends, the stock being cumulative.

The rapid increase in the value of the assets of the company, together with its present large surplus and large subscribed capital, give admirable security for this preference stock with its excellent earning power.

has come to be so well known that, to many people, it simply means "waterproofed" cloth.

"Cravenette" does mean that—and a great deal more.

It means waterproofed by the special patented process that only the Cravenette Company can use—a process which makes the cloth absolutely and permanently rainproof, yet leaves it light and porous.

Many yards of cloth and many finished garments are sold as "Cravenette" or "just as good" that are not "Cravenette" and not "just as good". Their inferiority shows up very plainly after a few wettings.

THE FORMULA OF "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Is On The Outside Of Every Box For All The World To See

Every user of "Fruit-a-tives" knows exactly what is being taken. The formula of this famous fruit medicine is printed plainly on the outside of every box.

Everyone knows that fruit juice is healthful—but perhaps some do not understand why this is true.

Fruit juice consists of about 91 per cent water, 8 per cent of sweet principle, and 1 per cent of a bitter substance. It is the quantity of bitter principle in fruit that gives the fruit value as a medicine.

The juices are first extracted from fresh, ripe oranges, apples, figs and prunes. By a secret process, some of the sweet atoms are replaced by the bitter principle. Then tonics and antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets, now known far and wide as "Fruit-a-tives."

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that is made of fruit juices, and is one of the few remedies that have let their composition be known from their introduction to the public.

"Fruit-a-tives" is nature's stimulant for the liver, bowels, kidneys and skin. In cases of obstinate Constipation, Liver Trouble, Indigestion, Backache, Rheumatism, Headaches and Impure Blood, this wonderful fruit medicine cures when everything else fails.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold everywhere at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c., or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ADELAIDE ON STEAM TRIALS

MAKES 18.28 KNOTS FOR MEASURED MILE

New C.P.R. Steamer Easily Makes Two Knots Over Contract Speed

On her steam trials, which took place Thursday on the Clyde, the new steamer Princess Adelaide built for the Victoria-Vancouver night service by the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company, exceeded her contract speed by over two knots on a measured mile, and maintained a speed of 18 knots with the greatest ease on a steady run of six miles.

Capt. Troup, manager of the B. C. coast service, received a message last evening stating that the Adelaide had made a speed of 18.28 knots over a measured mile and had maintained 18 knots an hour without trouble for six consecutive hours. The contract speed of the steamer in service was 16 knots.

The officials of the B. C. coast service are greatly pleased with the performance of the new steamer, which is far ahead of expectations. Capt. Troup, to the Times, said this morning: "I am more than pleased with the results of the trials, which show that the Princess Adelaide has exceeded all the contract speed requirements. Her time over the measured mile was 18.28 knots an hour, not 18.25 as stated in the morning paper, and this performance is ahead of our expectations."

The trials were watched by Resident Engineer McGowan, of Vancouver, who went to the Clyde for that purpose. It is expected that the Adelaide will sail for Victoria next week, and will arrive here early in December.

As stated in the full description of the new vessel published some time ago in this paper the Adelaide is fitted with engines similar to those of the Princess Charlotte and Princess Victoria. The Yarrow, Schlick and Tweedy balance system has been adopted in her equipment, and her four boilers are fitted with the closed stoke hold draught system, as in the Princess Victoria, this system having been found more satisfactory than the Howden forced draught.

GAS, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION VANISH

Settles Your Out-of-Order Stomach and Ends All Indigestion Five Minutes Later

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach, if you will take a little "Diapiesin" occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, nausea, indigestion, a lump of lead in stomach, biliousness, heartburn, water brash, pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapiesin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

WOMAN RELEASED FROM TINGLEY HOME

Will Now Make Effort to Secure Freedom for Her Two Children

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 1.—"My, it is good to be free again." These were the words that came from the lips of Mrs. Julia P. Quinn, who was freed by habeas corpus proceedings instituted by her brother, George H. Patterson, a millionaire banker of Newcastle, Pa., against the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical Society, for alleged unlawful restraint. Interviewed in the office of her attorneys, Mrs. Quinn declared that she had not seen a newspaper for months. She declared that in the two years she was at Mrs. Katherine Tingley's home- stead on Point Loma, she had received but $25. Mrs. Quinn said she got $10 on each of her birthdays and $5 when her mother left to go east, where she died. During that time, she said, the sum of $12,000 had been paid Mrs. Tingley and her associates for the support of herself and two children, William, 12, and Harriett, 14. She said she was permitted to see the children but one hour every Sunday and two hours every alternate Sunday. This restraint applied also to her mother before her death, she said. Since she entered the Theosophy home, March 8, 1908, she had met, besides the attendants, she said, only six persons, three of whom were her relatives, her brother and his wife and Mrs. Crowell. After resting here for several days, Patterson and Mrs. Quinn say they will return to Newcastle. They will not leave, however, until an effort is made to have Mrs. Quinn's two children released from the Point Loma home- stead. Patterson's suit to upset the will of his mother, who left thousands of dollars to the Theosophists, will come up in about two months. A special dispatch to the Times from Ottawa states that the contract for the new Dominion Government dredge for use in British Columbia harbors has been let to the Symons Company, Glasgow. The price is $210,000.

LUMBER PRICES MAY BE RAISED

Mountain Lumbermen's Association Decides to Curtail Production

Nelson, Oct. 1.—At the convention of the Mountain Lumbermen's Association here yesterday it was decided to considerably curtail production, owing to the falling off in the demand from the prairies. Prices will be kept up to the present level and will likely be raised to meet the increased cost of production. The opinion was expressed by leading lumbermen that the greatest difficulty they have to contend with is the dumping of American lumber, made possible by the absence of a protective tariff. A special committee was appointed to deal with the matter and if necessary drastic steps will be taken to meet the situation.

TRIBUTES TO AVIATOR.

Large Number of People Attend Funeral of George Chavez.

Domodossola, Italy, Oct. 1.—The funeral of George Chavez, the South American aviator, who was fatally injured after having accomplished the unprecedented feat of flying from Switzerland over the Alps to Italy, was held here. The occasion was remarkable in the matter of tributes to the courage of the youth.

General Spingardi, Italian minister of war, sent a special representative, and the populace of the town and the surrounding country followed the body to the church. Floral tributes came from all parts of Europe and thousands of peasants tramped down the mountain-sides with arms filled with mountain flowers. One little girl hid on the casket a bunch of Edelweiss that blooms alone amid the eternal snows of the Alps, bound with a ribbon on which had been written, "Gathered among the mountain peaks over which you flew."

An autopsy revealed that the aviator's heart was displaced by the shock of the fall, when a wing of his aeroplane collapsed as he was attempting to alight.

THREE INDICTED.

WHISKEY HOLDS ITS VICTIMS Until Released by Wonderful Samaria Prescription

Liquor sets up inflammation and irritation of the stomach and weakens the nerves. The steady or periodical (spree) drinker is often forced to drink even against his will by his unnatural physical condition.

Samaria Prescription stops the craving, steadies the nerves, builds up the general health and makes drink actually distasteful and nauseous. It is tasteless and odorless, and can be given with or without the knowledge of the patient.

Thousands of Canadian homes have been saved from misery and disgrace by some devoted wife, mother or daughter through this wonderful Canadian remedy. The man formerly wasted in drink has restored happiness, home comforts, education and respect to the families formerly in want and despair.

Read the following, one of the numerous unsolicited testimonials received:

"I can never repay you for your remedy. It is worth more than life to me. My husband has been offered liquor several times, but would not touch it. He said it had no charm for him now. May God's choice blessings ever rest on you and yours, are my prayers ever. No one knows it but those who have tried it. As soon as I can I will see others that I know would give anything to stop their husbands from drink. I will give them your address."

"Mrs. K. Dewinton, Alta."

(Name withheld on request.)
Now, if you know of any family needing this remedy, tell them about it. If you have any friend or relative who has formed or is forming the drink habit, help him to release himself from its awful clutches. Samaria Prescription is used by Physicians and Hospitals.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE of Samaria Prescription, with booklet, giving full particulars, testimonials, price, etc., will be sent absolutely free and postpaid in plain sealed package to anyone asking for it and mentioning this paper. Correspondence sacredly confidential. Write to-day. The Samaria Remedy Co., 75 Jordan Chambers, Jordan street, Toronto, Canada.

What Other People Think

A PROTEST.

To the Editor:—I desire to enter an emphatic protest against a proposal which is being urged in quarters said to be influential, to the effect that the McBride government should be advised to ask for a royal commission, composed of experts from the east, to decide:

1. What is the effect of the agreement between Mackenzie & Mann and the McBride government relative to the date for the Canadian Northern commencing construction on Vancouver Island?

2. What route the company may follow in reaching Barkley Sound?

3. Whether by the terms of the agreement the company really covenanted to do anything for Vancouver Island at all?

This move for a royal commission on this important matter is, no doubt, a clever ruse on the part of the government to escape from a serious dilemma, but I hope it will be resisted to the utmost by every loyal and patriotic resident of Vancouver Island. If I hear anything more about it I shall certainly take the initiative in calling a mass meeting at the Victoria theatre or the horse show building. "Once bitten, twice shy," said I.

YATES STREET MUD PUDDLE.

To the Editor:—Now that the wet weather has apparently started I would be obliged to our mayor, board of aldermen or city engineer, for information as to who is responsible for the state of repair that Yates street, between Douglas and Blanchard, is left in. The surface drains on each side are in such a state that the water cannot be carried off, but stands on the street to make mud soup. Of one thing I am quite sure, that it is a fine trap for autos and heavily laden wagons to get mired in. Only yesterday one auto broke a wheel off at the axle; another needed the assistance of a dozen men with jacks, lumber, etc., to raise it from a hole; whilst a wagon laden with lumber had to be unloaded before it could proceed, and now the road is hopeless beyond repair. Whilst I quite understand it is the council's intention to pave it and do not care to spend any more money than is necessary, are the property holders to wait until Douglas street is finished, which at the present rate of speed, will be two months, and may be longer, according to weather conditions, or is the work to start immediately? I don't mean tomorrow, for that never comes, but say two days. What excuse is there for allowing the contractors for the street lighting to leave this main thoroughfare with dirt piled up in the middle, reminding one of some newly dug graves? I was to-day asked by a visitor if that was the city burial grounds, and being informed in the negative, he replied: "Oh, perhaps it is being left to be buried in conjunction with the fair in the jumping contest."

To sum this main thoroughfare up, it has at present on the south side the best row of buildings in any one-block in Victoria to-day, and the property holders petitioned for improvement over a year ago. Why it is simply disgraceful to treat us in this manner. What encouragement can we assure any one contemplating building on a street that is not paved and lighted, when work is being carried out like that at present? I beg to take issue with the council on one point, and that is I contend that the city has no more right to tear a street up and leave it than any ordinary contractor. The former disobeys the law and is not punished, whilst the latter would be summoned and probably fined.

What Yates street wishes to know is:

1. Why is the pavement not proceeded with?
2. If it is not council's intention to proceed without further delay, why is the street not put in better repair?
3. Why does the lighting contractor not proceed with his work?
4. Who is responsible for the present state of the street—the mayor, board of aldermen or the city engineer?

Statement by the President, Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, U.S.N., Retired

"I have long regarded the oil industry as one of the most important and promising of the newer lines of trade. Without intending to enter the business of producing or selling oil, I have been carefully investigating, for several years, every available source of information on the subject, first, because of my interest in the use of oil as a fuel for naval vessels, and later because of my conviction that the future of the commodity would make it one of the most important subjects in the trade of the world.

"Many interesting business opportunities have come to me since my retirement from active service in the navy, two years ago. Fifty years of service in a calling which is more than ordinarily exacting, renders any man of active temperament un-fitted to idleness. It has been my intention, when the right opportunity occurred, to connect myself with some enterprise of sufficient size, and offering sufficient promise for the future to appeal to my best energies. That opportunity is present in the organization of the California Consolidated Oil Company.

"After personally visiting and carefully investigating the proposed properties of the company, their books, contracts and options, I have accepted the presidency of the company and have invested my own money in its shares. I will personally direct its affairs. This is the only oil company with which I am connected."

The Oil Book

We publish the "Weekly Oil Book," which goes out every Monday morning. The "Oil Book" constantly presents money-making opportunities to its readers. For the last two years the "Oil Book" has been pointing them out and for two years its readers have been making money by taking advantage of them. With special writers, photographers, etc., we get all the news from all the oil fields. The California oil industry develops very rapidly—every twenty-four hours brings forth something new—a new pipe line started, another dividend payer, a big contract for oil signed, another gusher, etc. It costs nothing to keep in touch with this activity and with the money-making opportunities. Fill in and mail the coupon and we will send you the "Weekly Oil Book" for six months without charge or obligation.

We advise the purchase of California Consolidated Oil Co. stock now at 60c. Do not fall, should you not order now, to send in the coupon for the "Oil Book," which will be sent you for six months without charge, and which will keep you in touch with California Consolidated Oil Co. and the California oil industry.

Oil Is Now California's Biggest Industry

Millions Paid in Monthly Dividends

Oil is now California's biggest industry, employing thousands of men and involving millions of dollars. The California oil fields are undoubtedly the richest in the world. Owing to their geographical position, which permits easy marketing of the value of their output will increase as the consumption of oil for domestic, manufacturing and shipping purposes advances.

Many have made independent fortunes in successful California oil companies. These investors were either on the ground or were advised by responsible oil investment brokers. Their small investments have been returned to them in dividends many times over.

BOY SAVES FATHER'S LIFE.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 1.—To the quick wit of his 10-year-old son who threw a dog into the corral and thus diverted the attention of a bull who was going him, James Crawford, a prominent farmer of Colville, Wash., owes his life. Crawford is in a critical condition. His head and face were badly lacerated and a hole was torn in his side by the infuriated animal. He was unconscious when rescued. When Crawford entered the corral he did not notice that a rope which held the bull had broken. He cut off all escape by closing the gate and latching it. As the animal charged, Crawford shouted for help. The next moment he was being rolled around the enclosure. His young son answered his cry for aid by throwing his pet terrier into the corral. The dog so worried the bull that it turned on the terrier. Finally the bull rushed out of the gate which the lad had opened, and Crawford was rescued.

FORMER "LIONS" OF BRITISH NAVY

NAME HAS NOT BEEN ONE OF HAPPIEST

Vessels That Have Preceded the Newest "Lion" in History of Empire

The name of Devonport's new cruiser is not one of the happiest in our naval annals, although there are few indeed that can rival it in point of antiquity. The London Globe, four hundred years ago—in 1511, to be exact—English shipping in the North Sea suffered much annoyance at the hands of one Andrew Barton, who with Andrew Wood was one of the commanders of the fleet of James IV. of Scotland. These men voyaged under letters of marque and were remarkably impartial in their attentions. However, the government of the day took no notice of their depredations and at last the Earl of Surrey took matters into his own hands, fitted out two ships at his own expense and led his own sons—Lord Edward and Lord Thomas Howard—in command of them. Barton had two ships with him, but they were scattered by a storm. The same thing happened to the Howards' ships, but in the end Lord Thomas fell in with Barton himself and his brother with the other Scottish ship. Stout fighters as the Scots were, the result of the actions was to add two ships to the navy of 1511, one Barton's own ship, the Lion, of 120 tons, and the other the Jenny Perwin, of 70 tons. Barton himself was killed and the affair led to war and the battle of Flodden. King Henry's answer to James IV's complaints of the attack on Barton was to the effect that "punishing pirates was never held to be a breach of the peace among princes."

"Lion's Whelps," these last frequently built in batches and numbered like the torpedo boats of to-day.

Her armament consisted of 60 pieces of what in those days passed for ordnance. These were four "demi-cannons," the weight of the gun being 4,000 pounds and of its shot 304 pounds; eight 450-pound "culverins," firing 175-pound shot; 14 "demi-culverins," 3,400 pounds in weight and firing a 5-pound shot, and nine 1,400-pound "sakers" with a 5-pound shot. These constituted the "heavy armament." In addition there were eight "fowlers," 16 "fowler chambers," and one "falcon." The longest ranging gun was the demi-culverin, which was effective at 20 score paces.

The London Lion is often referred to without the gilding adjective, and when she was rebuilt in 1809 it was officially discarded. She sailed with Drake to Cadiz in 1587 to slize the King of Spain's beard, much against the inclination of the skipper one William Borough, "a distinguished navigator and hydrographer, but 'no warrior.' Drake's plans struck him as pure madness and he did little to further the operations. The result was that Borough was tried on board the Elizabeth Bonaventure by a primitive court-martial, and sentenced to 'abide the pains of death,' but he outlived both the sentence and his quarrel with Drake and commanded the Bonavolla against the Armada. In that fight the Lion was second flagship, having Lord Thomas Howard as her commander. It was a new Lion that fought in the battle for the North Foreland in 1653. Twenty years later her captain was killed in the first battle of the "Schooneveld." Under Captain John Torpy she took part in the action with the French off Beachy Head in 1690, which brought so much tumult upon Torrington, but the ship had the satisfaction of sharing in Russell's great victory at Barfleur two years later. It is not until 1745 that we again find a Lion in action. This time, commanded by Captain Percy Brett, she endeavored to prevent the flight of the Young Pretender from Scotland to France, but the Lion came off decidedly second best in the encounter and retired with 55 killed and 107 wounded, of whom seven died later.

In 1759 the Lion was present at the taking of Guedeloupe, where her captain, William Trelawney, was wounded. Twenty years later, fighting under Byron off Grenada, she had a narrow escape from capture. Byron conducted the battle in anything but a capable manner, although the ineptitude of the French prevented it from being the crushing defeat it ought to have been. The Lion and two other ships were cut off from the main body and Byron, in his official report expressed his "great surprise" that "no ship of the enemy was detached after the Lion."

There were "Red Lions," "White Lions," "Golden Lions," "Rose Lions," "Two Lions" and whole broods of "The latest addition to the British navy represents the third stage in the development of the battleship-cruiser, first embodied in the design of the Clyde-built ships Indomitable and Inflexible, and the Elswick production Invincible. In these earlier ships a vast stride was witnessed in two essentials, and they were the first cruisers to have the principle of the "all-big-gun" ship—which was inaugurated in the Dreadnought battleship—given to them. In the mixed armament of preceding cruisers, the heaviest weapon mounted was the 9.2-gun, seen in the Shannon and sister ships, while no greater speed than 22 1/2 knots had been attempted. In the Invincible class, which received the designation of battleship-cruiser, because of the great approach in offensive powers made by those ships to the battleship—the developments consisted of increasing the gun-power to eight 12 in. guns, and raising the speed to 25 knots. Japan and one or two other powers had introduced the 12 in. gun in their latest cruisers, and Britain here took the bold step of equipping cruisers almost similarly with the heaviest battleships. Next came the Indefatigable type—two of which are building on the Clyde for the New Zealand and Australian governments. No increase was made in the gun-power, except that the eight 12 in. weapons will be in length of 50 calibres instead of 45, and this will mean an increase of 50 per cent. in destructive force. The dimensions of the hull have also been slightly increased, and the engine-power raised from 47,000 to 43,000 to attain a little more speed. The greater length of hull also permitted a better distribution of the guns on the en-echelon principle for broadside firing. In the two latest ships the Lion and Princess Royal—an enormous development in the matter of speed. Hitherto the designed rate of 25 knots had been reckoned sufficient; but here the advance was suddenly made to 28 knots. A greatly increased displacement and engine-power was given, the former rising from 17,250 tons in the Indomitable and 18,750 in the Indefatigable class to 26,350 tons; while the horsepower was increased to 70,000 units. An important feature about this augmentation of speed is to observe that with a considerably spacier hull the new cruisers are to have actually greater propelling power than the Lusitania and Mauretania, as the following comparison shows:—

BOMB FOUND UNDER HOME OF GEN. OTIS
 Explodes Shortly After Being Removed by Police—Residence Now Guarded
 (Times Leased Wire.)
 Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 1.—A bomb found beneath the home of General Harrison Gray Otis, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, in Wilshire boulevard, exploded in the street near the house late this afternoon. The explosion tore a great hole in the street and shattered a score of windows. No one was hurt.
 The bomb was found by the police. It was similar to that found beneath the Zechandalar home this morning. When the officers carried it to the street they noted that the clock attached was running. They dropped it in the street and fled.
 Two minutes later the machine exploded with a detonation that terrified the entire fashionable Westlake district.
 A guard has been thrown about the Otis home.

 This is the second explosion in the Las Esperanzas district.

OLDEST INDIAN DEAD
 Spothil Jackson, Aged 103 Years, Passed Away Last Night on the Songhees Reserve.
 Last evening the oldest inhabitant of the Songhees Reserve passed away in the person of Spothil Jackson, who had spent the 103 years of his life on Vancouver Island. His career was most interesting, he having seen the first white men land in Victoria and also met and welcomed the Hudson's Bay Company's officers when they came to this city to establish a station.
 Jackson acted as guide to Sir James Douglas in spying out the land and being a competent man he was kept in the governor's service. He was taken to Mt. Douglas—now known as Cedar Hill—to point out all the islands which could be seen from there. Leaving Sir James Douglas' service the deceased was employed by the late Mr. Finlayson and many other old-timers, who respected him on account of his philanthropic feelings towards the whites. The other members of his tribe looked to him for advice, as he kept well in touch with the settlers.
 The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence on the reserve. Rev. Father Latour will officiate. The remains will be interred in the Indian cemetery, between his two sons, who passed away some time ago.

TWO AEROPLANES COLLIDE IN MID-AIR
 (Times Leased Wire.)
 Milan, Oct. 1.—Aviators Dickinson of the British army, and Thomas, a Frenchman, were seriously hurt when their aeroplanes collided in mid-air, 50 feet from earth to-day. Aviator Thomas evidently misjudged the distance between the two machines when they crossed each other's paths. Both machines were wrecked and tumbled to the ground like huge wounded birds. Spectators lifted the injured aviators from the wreckage and bore them to a hospital.

There will be 5,000 people there when the G. T. P. reaches Fort George. Superb climate, and the place to make money for years. Don't fail to look up Fort George either as a place to go to, or a place to invest in certain-to-advance property.

Forty Years Ago and To-Day

During the early days of this province the most travelled passenger route from the Old Country to Victoria was via Cape Horn, the treacherous southern point of South America. In the sixties many vessels made this passage and up to the nineties arrived here in large numbers, but since the latter date very few have made the journey. The average number of windjammers which visit this city each year is about five, and they carry nothing but cargo, no accommodation being provided for passengers.

Since the advent of steam this course has become practically obsolete. The old sailing ships, which held command of the seas for so many years, are rapidly disappearing from off the seas, and before many more decades have elapsed the sign for the sturdy burglar will have passed into oblivion, not, however, without a worthy record.

Forty years ago those who wished to masted ship from the British Isles by way of the old and renowned route. The vessel left London during July of the year 1870 and aboard it were fifty persons who had decided to try their luck in the new world. Gathered at the dock were relatives and close friends, desirous of having a parting word with the departing ones, whom they might never see again. At the appointed time for the sailing of the ship everything was in its place and a tow rope was taken from a tug and made fast. Amid the waving of handkerchiefs, the wishes of good luck and the bidding of farewells the large windjammer moved from her moorings and started on the long six months' voyage.

During the trip down the Thames the hearts of the passengers beat fast as the thoughts of leaving home presented themselves. They, who were to be the builders of this great province, were unable to refrain from shedding a tear. Meanwhile the sailors were about their business, getting the sails into position to make headway after the tow-boat cast off. Rounding the chalk cliffs of Dover and entering the English channel the steam propelled vessel left the other to rely on the breeze to complete the passage as best she could.

With a favorable northeasterly wind blowing and all sails set a quick run was made down the channel. While in sight of land the thoughts of the passengers were on the past, but when riding on the waves of the Atlantic they turned to the future. As the cities and towns on the coast revealed themselves from behind necks of land memories of other days were renewed. During the day everyone remained on deck to see as much of the dear old isle as was possible. Once past Eddy-stone all understood that the motherland would soon be lost to view. As Land's End was approached little gatherings were to be noticed on the poop and forecastle waving to the fast-disappeared to them, but that they were acknowledged sons of Neptune. Off the northern coast of Brazil the old convict settlement, Fernando de Noronoh, was sighted and the skipper, who proved to be very popular, explained its origin. After passing this island fresh southeast trade winds were met and as they were gaining in force the royals, gaff-topsail, jigger-topmast sail and flying jib were ordered furled. Although the sea was running high none of those aboard expected to meet a hurricane. The barometer, however, began to fall and dark threatening clouds gathered and raced across the sky. Recognizing that a storm was fast approaching the captain gave the order, "Stand by the top-gallant halliards." Rushing to their respective positions the able seamen, on the order "Lower away the upper top-gallant sails," reefed the canvas. This weather continued and noticing that the ship was laboring under the amount of sail which she was carrying, the skipper had the outer jib, lower top-gallant sail and the cross-jack made fast.

Although the masts were cracking and groaning under the strain, the captain was determined not to remove another inch of canvas unless a sudden change came. When in the latitude of Montevideo the storm hurried itself upon the staunch barque in all its fury. The sea was running exceptionally high and at times it looked as if the vessel would be engulfed. Singing out from the poop in a loud voice, which could scarcely be heard above the storm, the captain issued the order for the furling of the upper and main sails. The order was given too late and while in the act of making the latter piece of canvas fast the weather clew line parted and the sail was blown to shreds. The gallant little windjammer was now carrying her storm sails and prepared for the worst.

It seemed to the passengers as though the storm would never abate. The decks were continuously awash and the new settlers were compelled to remain below. While attending to his duties a seaman was washed overboard. He was making his way toward the mizen-mast when he missed his hold on the railing as a heavy sea struck him, and took him over the side. This regrettable incident scattered fear throughout the passengers, who refused to leave their shelter on any occasion. The man at the wheel had to be lashed to prevent his disappearing. The mates took their turn in charge of the ship but the captain hardly ever removed his clothing, being ready in case of emergency.

Passing between the Falkland Islands and the mainland the hurricane reached its height. The doors of the galley were battered in by the tremendous waves and the cook was no longer able to fulfill his necessary duties, as the galley was awash. All the luxuries and delicacies which had been provided for the passengers before the steward was driven out, had now to be discontinued. Everyone had, until the galley was repaired, to eat salt pork or salt beef and biscuits and, although it was greatly against their taste, they had to put up with this menu for the time being, as it was the best that could be gotten.

When nearing the Horn the storm seemed to diminish in violence and the sun, at intervals, pierced through the dark clouds which had enveloped the stately barque for some time. Hoping that the worst of the passage was over the English voyagers began to pick up their spirits and for the first time in several weeks ventured to pace up and down the deck of the vessel. All hands turned to and helped repair the galley. The men were resolved to have this exposed part of the ship so strengthened that it would stand the pressure of the waves if another storm was encountered. They did not wish to have the salt meat and biscuit bills over again.

The hopes of the passengers for favorable weather for the remainder of the journey were groundless. The on-coming storm was not detected until it was nearly upon the ship. Orders were given for the taking in of sail, but the wind, which blew with terrific force, ripped the canvas into pieces and left nothing but the bolt ropes. The howling and whistling of the wind, together with the dark sky and heavy seas, warned the mariners that another tempest equal to that of the previous day was to be their lot. The old ship stood the force of the storm admirably

It is the friend of all who have headaches, biliousness, constipation or dizziness, because it banishes such ailments, root and branch! It is the friend of all who feel "seedy," because it clears away the poisonous products of indigestion, which clog the system and make you feel run down, brain-fagged, out of sorts! Better still, it tones and strengthens your stomach and liver, regulates your bowels, makes food nourish you, and thus prevents, as well as cures, all stomach and liver disorders. Mother Seigel's Syrup is the standard household remedy, "the friend in the cupboard" in hundreds of thousands of British homes, and is unequalled as a digestive tonic and stomachic remedy.

MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP

Mr. Chas. St. Stearns, 362, Richmond Street, W. Toronto, writes:—"My digestion became deranged about a year ago, and very soon my general health was affected. I had no relish for food, and when I ate I always suffered from sharp pains. I lost in weight, which was not unnatural, I suppose, as I ate much less than I was used to. I also had frequent headaches, and a general feeling of heaviness from which nothing seemed to relieve me. Then I turned to Mother Seigel's Syrup and now, thanks to that remedy, I am fully recovered, and in my normal good health."—15/2/1910. Take Mother Seigel's Syrup daily, after meals, and it will cure you!

make the trip to Victoria by water spent six long months on the ocean, while to-day one is landed in Victoria two weeks after their departure from Liverpool. The Blue Funnel line's vessels, which handle most of the freight, make the trip, through the Mediterranean and Red seas and the Indian and Pacific oceans, in two months.

The comparison of the times of the windjammers and steamers seems to the old-timer, who made the tedious passage around the Horn, nothing less than miraculous. If he could have foreseen the time when it would only take two weeks to reach Victoria—but it is useless to conjecture. During the ocean journey the endurance of the passengers were tested to the utmost and many succumbed to the hardships with which they were brought face to face.

One of the old-timers of this city, talking to a Times representative during the week, furnished a most interesting account of a trip on a four-business, getting the sails into position to make headway after the tow-boat cast off. Rounding the chalk cliffs of Dover and entering the English channel the steam propelled vessel left the other to rely on the breeze to complete the passage as best she could.

With a favorable northeasterly wind blowing and all sails set a quick run was made down the channel. While in sight of land the thoughts of the passengers were on the past, but when riding on the waves of the Atlantic they turned to the future. As the cities and towns on the coast revealed themselves from behind necks of land memories of other days were renewed. During the day everyone remained on deck to see as much of the dear old isle as was possible. Once past Eddy-stone all understood that the motherland would soon be lost to view. As Land's End was approached little gatherings were to be noticed on the poop and forecastle waving to the fast-dis-could be spread the ship made little better than five knots an hour. Three degrees north of the equator the doldrums were met. To the passengers these appeared to be most dreary, but to the ship's crew they were welcome. For a whole week the rain came down in torrents and with very little wind the vessel remained practically at a standstill. Those bound for the new land were forced to keep in their cabins or get drenched to the skin. The crew, however, dressed in oilskins and with big sou'westers on, were busy stretching canvas on every available space in order to catch a quantity of water with which to replenish their water supply.

Before crossing the line all the passengers were considered hand-lubbers. At this point Father Neptune visited the ship and everyone was given a much-needed shave and a good bath. The crew then announced that the term "hand-lubber" could not long be although her iron frame groaned under the tremendous strain which it was subjected to.

The captain tried to keep within a reasonable distance of the treacherous Horn but the mighty wind threw his calculations aside and his staunch little vessel was carried well down into the Antarctic ocean. Several days were required to beat back to the proper course and, when nearing the South American coast, a homeward-bound vessel was sighted. The hearts of all on board throbbed as they thought of the land of their birth. How they longed to have just one more look at dear old England; but the idea of having to make another passage in a sailing ship, with all the most trying hardships imaginable, banished this feeling.

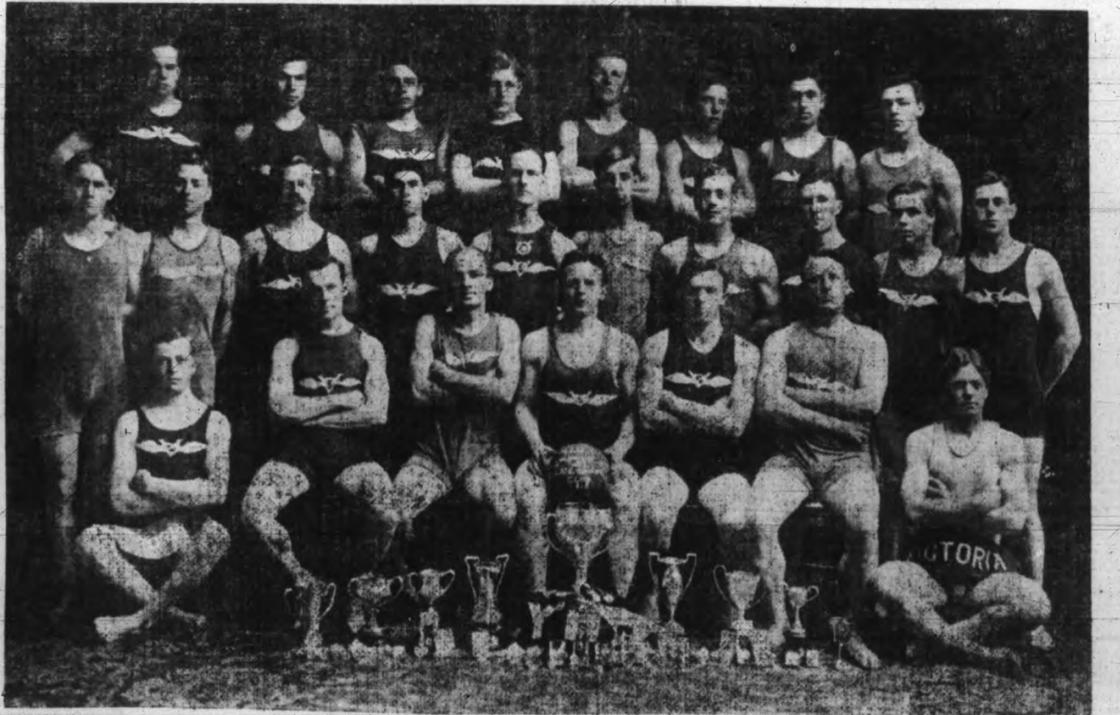

The wind once more subsided and a favorable breeze was experienced. A smart passage was made as far north as the line. The sails once more bedecked the yards and for some time the vessel raced along at an eight-knot clip. At the equator the wind fell and the vessel heeled listlessly on the Pacific ocean as though desirous of having a rest after the strenuous voyage. The sails hung loosely on the yards and scarcely a ripple was to be seen on the surface of the water. Like the ill-fated craft which bore Coleridge's "Ancient Mariner," the vessel lay

"Alone, alone, all, all alone,
"Alone on a wide wide sea!"

After lying for a week on the peaceful bosom of the greatest of the five oceans a series of winds were met. For a short time the breeze would blow from the southeast, then it would shift to the southwest, and suddenly veer around in the west. They proved to be very tricksy, as the skipper no sooner had his course figured out than he would again have to alter it. This lasted for several days, when a favorable southerly breeze sprang up and once more the barque moved on a direct course. The sails bulged out and the vessel was carried well up the California coast. Here another calm was encountered and the ship was left drifting helplessly for three days.

When that time had elapsed a fresh north wind reached the ship. On the port tack three points to the west, good headway was made and a few days after passing San Francisco, Cape Flattery was sighted. The delight of the fifty persons aboard knew no bounds when they were informed that the journey was nearly at an end. The morning was a little thick but as the day grew on a heavy fog-bank gathered and the cape was lost to view. The captain, feeling uneasy, not knowing his exact location, turned the nose of his vessel and headed out to sea to await the lifting of the fog. As the fog disappeared he again approached the shore. The pilot jack was hoisted on the foremast and the skipper eagerly scanned the horizon to see if a tug was in sight. Answering the signal of the sailing ship a tug was soon alongside, and after several hours the ship with her escort glided into the Royal Roads, where an anchor was dropped.

The next day, January 5th, the pas-engers and their belongings were landed in Victoria, after having been over six months at sea. Christmas and New Year were both spent on the high seas, and although they were suitably celebrated the usual luxuries which characterize these days at home were missing.

The passenger who told this story, now a prosperous local business man, recently had the privilege of completing a trip from the Old Land by the new route, via the Atlantic ocean and the Canadian Pacific railway. Speaking of that he related a story of unusual interest, which compares in a unique way with that of the earlier voyage.

He left Liverpool on the Canadian Northern liner Royal Edward, for Montreal. When out in the Irish sea her engines were opened out and the vessel fairly flew across the water. She was cutting the water at the rate of twenty knots an hour. What a contrast to the intrepid little sailing vessel which braved the waves of two oceans, making at her best ten knots in sixty minutes! Every luxury was to be found on the Royal Edward, there being the most up-to-date saloons, smoking rooms, berth accommodations and dining rooms that can be found on any of the trans-Atlantic lines.

Although out of sight of land for a few days it was very seldom that the steamer was out of communication with terra firma. "It was hard to tell whether you were on land or not," he said. "The passengers presented themselves before the telegraph operator and had messages sent to friends on either side of the water. Everything was so found there for one's comfort and so pleasant was the voyage that it was over all too soon."

Meanwhile the engines of the vessel were propelling her along at a fast clip, but few of the passengers realized that she was on a land-breaking run. Entering the Straits of Belle Isle it was transferred from the Empress of Britain to the Royal Edward. She beat her rival's time by several hours, being at sea about four days.

After a pleasant passage up the St. Lawrence, Montreal was reached. Here a westward bound train was ready to leave and when all the passengers, mail and baggage had been transferred the express sped out of the station. The comforts for the enjoyment of life could be desired. About four days were required to cross the continent and the scenery was magnificent.

Ten days exactly were sufficient to complete the passage, whereas in the earlier days as many as six months were necessary; then there was nothing but the same old sea to gaze at while now, crossing the continent on the C. P. R., the greatest variety of scenic beauty in the world is to be viewed.

The butter-scotch which Messrs. Callard & Bowser (Duke's Road, Euston Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years, is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, as palatable, in fact, that children are more likely to need restraining from excess than any persuading to take it. This BUTTER-SCOTCH is stated to contain 11.7 per cent. of fat and 72.3 per cent. of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made recently of a specimen substantially confirm these figures; further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended not only as a harmless sweetmeat, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases. In all the principal confection stores in Victoria.

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of codliver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter easily takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

FAMOUS DOG.
Killed When on Duty in Grand St. Bernard Pass Recently.
A renowned St. Bernard dog, which has saved the lives of many travellers lost in the snow on the Grand St. Bernard pass during the long winter months, has been killed on duty. The dog was named Barry III, and was a worthy successor to the famous Barry I. Hearing cries of distress on the Italian side of the pass Barry gave the monks warning in the usual way by barking, and Pere Clavandier set out with the dog to the rescue. The night was very black and a violent storm was raging, rendering climbing dangerous.
Barry, however, conducted the monk to the two lost travellers, and then ran off, it is thought, because he heard other cries of distress. Pere Clavandier took no notice of the matter and returned to the hospice in the early hours of the morning with the half-frozen travellers.
As Barry often spent many hours on the pass watching and knew his way back to notice his own absence. The following morning, however, as Barry did not return, the monks went out to search for him, and found him lying dead at the bottom of a precipice several hundred feet deep.
An avalanche of stones had swept down upon him and hurled him over the precipice. He was the most powerful and the best beloved dog at the hospice.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

On every side I hear the sad news. It's spoken in the parlor. It's printed in the newspapers. It's shouted across the back fences. I shouldn't wonder if it were even whispered in church.

What is it? Why this, of course: "They say hats are going to be bigger than ever this fall."

My countrywomen, if you really do wear bigger hats this winter than you have this summer, I'm ashamed of you. Ashamed, and disappointed, and mighty, right disgusted.

Right straight along I have been receiving letters asking me to write on this subject, but I thought the fashion had about spent its force, and then, as a certain friend of mine said, "Them as wants to wear such big hats will wear them anyway, and them as has some common-sense don't need to be told not to."

But with this sad news continually assailing my ears, futile or not futile, I simply must register some protest. In a very crowded car the other day I saw a woman with one of those enormous hats on, repeatedly buffet a man's face and mouth with the back of the brim. After standing it for a few minutes he suddenly opened his mouth and to the immense amusement of the crowd, began to bite the brim.

The girl turned around, grasped the situation, grew fiery red, and threw a withering glance at the man. The crowd roared with laughter at her discomfiture. I don't blame them or the man a bit. I trust it taught her a good lesson, although I doubt it, and I could almost find it in my heart to wish that all men who are treated that way would retaliate in a similar fashion.

If hats are really to be larger instead of smaller this winter, I think the matter has gone beyond the point of a joke. It is twice as uncomfortable to travel in a crowded car or trap as it used to be, because these ultra hats keep us all wretchedly crooking our necks to keep out of the way.

In church and in all auditoriums where women are not obliged to remove their hats, and at outdoor performances, the comfort and pleasure of the people is continually being injured by these ladies—no, ladies or women is altogether too good a name for them. I think I'll call them "creatures"—who cheerfully block the view with hats that take up three or four times the room of an ordinary head.

Do you know what they say about the American woman in Paris? "Oh, she'll wear anything. She has no taste. The more absurd, and outlandish, and inartistic a thing is, the better she likes it."

And so they send along the dictum that hats are to be bigger than ever this winter and we slavishly obey. Or shall we surprise them, and showing some thought for common sense and ~~and some common sense~~ say, "No, hats aren't to be bigger. They are to be decidedly smaller."

"What do you say, American women?"

Ruth Cameron

Dear Mrs. Currah—I feel so very much better after using the 10 days' treatment of ORANGE LILY you were kind enough to send, that I will not require any more. In fact, I feel entirely well, and it is now a month since I stopped using the treatment. Similar letters to the above are not infrequent, though, of course, such cases are not of long standing. Most women who have suffered for any length of time will require to use ORANGE LILY longer than the Trial Treatment in order to effect a complete cure, but in every case they will be perceptibly benefited. Further, the benefit will be permanent whether they continue to use ORANGE LILY or not. It is not taken internally, and does not contain any alcohol or other stimulant. It is an applied treatment, and acts directly on the suffering organs. In all cases of women's disorders, these organs are congested to a greater or less extent, and ORANGE LILY will relieve and remove this congestion just as positively and certainly as the action of ammonia or soap on soiled linen. It is a simple chemical problem, and the result is always the same, a step towards better health and complete cure. In order that every suffering woman may prove its good qualities, I will send enough of ORANGE LILY for 10 days' treatment, absolutely free, to each lady who will send me her address. MRS. FRANCES E. ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

OBSERVER AT JUBILEE FAIR

About the office typewriters are grinding out their gist of descriptive clamoring, punctuating the rattle of the type-bars, tell of a newspaper staff steering a none-too-easy course on an ocean of adjectives amid the rocks and shoals of hyperbolic and tautology. The sporting editor, struggling with certain notes on cattle, chickens and other denizens of the farmyard, bemoans the fact that he was not brought up in the country; on my right another worried colleague is plunged in the mysteries of agricultural products, his acquaintance with which has been almost entirely confined to his plate; nearby a toiler seeks a synonym for "perfume" and whispers of the "fragrant odor" which emanated from the flowers to whose beauty he seeks to do justice.

All about is industry, for the Jubilee Exhibition is in progress and these strenuous days for the scribes. The material attractions of the great fair are being epitomized for the busy reader and I have no part in this great confluence of figures and fancy. I sail a still more perilous course and delve into a still more tenebrous mystery than the description of these voluntary exhibits. It is my task to note the involuntary exhibition of human character which the grand carnival has evoked from its attendants.

First let me observe that an event of this character is a great leveler of persons. There is no dignity of rank, no individuality of its members decreases in ratio with their increase in numbers. By this I mean "the bigger the crowd, the smaller the ego," to which rule a notable exception is the political spell-binder making pre-election promises. As the Indian, after a spell of quiet, feels suddenly the need of society, grows generous and organizes his potlatch, so do we, the Caucasians, cherish a similar urge of change and excitement and throwing off the conventionalism which governs our normal existence, participate for a few days every year in the carnival of entertainment which we call our exhibition. Aside from the industrial and commercial features of the fair we find enjoyment in diversions older than our memories, and though for 360 days of the year we shrug our shoulders deprecatingly and assume a blasé expression at the mention of broncho-busting, rocco-nut shies, shooting galleries and such time-honored adjuncts of the fair few of us can resist their allurements during the odd five-days. We may, when found in the crowd, attempt to cover our apostasy to help the thing along, but that excuse will not convince the man who finds us laughing at the circus clowns.

Confession is good for the soul. Your observer is himself an apostate follower of the three hours drifting with the crowd yesterday. It was three o'clock when I arrived at the grounds and searched for a ticket of admission while two cars unloaded their human freight. Sitting on the edge of the entrance platform I espied two young ladies anxiously scanning the passengers as they disembarked. Something in the face of the older one held my attention, and hovering within earshot, I heard her sigh and exclaim: "And he didn't come on this car. Isn't it provoking. Well, Martha, we've waited since two o'clock so I think we had better pay for ourselves." At the gate she abstracted from her chateleine bag a goodly roll of bills and, as the two disappointed maidens entered the grounds, I wondered who the delinquent was and what had detained him. Later I reflected on the feminine characteristic which even the exhibition left untouched, and on my reputation for minding my own business, which it did not.

It was in the Arts and Crafts building before the exhibit of paintings, that I first slipped from the pinnacle of cold criticism to the common level of enthusiasm. Close at hand a young gentleman of persuasive manners and long dark hair was explaining the fine points and fallings of the exhibits to a group of ladies and at the first glance I was impressed with two things, first, that his face was familiar, and secondly, that his earnestness was that of the professional brush-wielder. I moved closer. "You see, Miss M., while the picture is a pretty example of Pre-Raphaelite accuracy and has, to some extent, the correctness of detail and delicacy of coloring which stamps the work of Millais, Holman Hunt and Rossetti it errs on the side of exactitude. The artist has undoubtedly sacrificed temperamental appeal in her endeavor to preserve an unimpeachable presentation of Nature in the mood depicted."

My eyes went to the painting, a pastoral in oils, and back to the speaker. Brush-wielder? Of course he was. His voice was even familiar. Great heavens! he was a local bill poster.

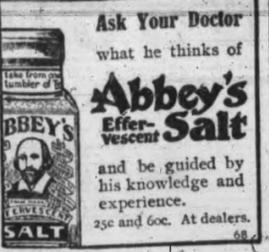

A lady acquaintance greeted me. It seemed easy and worth the effort. "What do I think of this picture, Miss Jones? Well, let me see. I think the chiaroscuro is excellent and the tonality of the coloring exquisite, but the artist has evidently sacrificed temperamental appeal."

I got away from the exhibit after half-an-hour of talking, somewhat confused as to the trend which my "criticisms" had taken, but happy in the knowledge of having convinced my audience. The noise of several bands assembled my ears. Two camels on a platform filled me with curiosity, and the flap of the circus tent fell behind me before I had time to consider the consequences of temptation too easily embraced.

If the exhibit of arts and crafts is a place where a ready tongue and adequate nerve will set you—pro tem—above your fellow-man, the circus is a place where, everything to the contrary, all men are about equal. I felt somewhat guilty of an indiscretion until I observed a barrister, whose eloquent pleadings before a court of justice have more than once thrilled me, roaring with merriment at the clown's ever-successful stunt of tying a fire-cracker to a dog's tail. Then I knew that I was one of the crowd, and, with my heart beating time to those about me, I stayed for the whole show.

It was when a mounted policeman undertook the superhuman task of clearing at least a hundred trespassers from the running track that I discovered a new trait in the general character of an exhibition crowd, or any other crowd, for that matter. While the blue-coat sought to remove the obstructing mass of humanity the grand stand crowd, on behalf of which his efforts were directed, greeted the cool defiance of the trespassers with commendatory remarks. But when the man's obstinacy won the day and the last trespasser disappeared from the track, the ovation which greeted him was as loud as it was genuine. Then I made another note: "A crowd having no individuality, has no fixed course, is fickle and lacks a true sense of humor."

Space prevents me from discoursing as I would like on the exhibition's human side. I am ready to confess, however, that I feel older tastes as good this year as it did ten years ago; that Bulgarian fortune-tellers impel the attention of the eyes which has already seen them a dozen times; that an old gentleman who has gained a general reputation as an atrocious spoliator will throw small balls at—not near—a black man's head during fair week with the abandon of a child, and that five days of exhibition are more rejuvenating than a month at the hot springs.

Before closing let me mention an incident of my visit to the main hall, just for what you may consider it worth and without comment. A middle-aged lady, you can't get away from the ladies at the fair—greeted a matron of fifty summers.

"Having a good time, Mrs. So-and-So?"

"I certainly am. How are you enjoying yourself, Miss Nameless?"

"Splendidly. I've been around the demonstration booths. So far I've had four pancakes made of Pinko flour, one of Dinko self-raising mixture, three cups of coffee, and I would have had a glass of beer if Mrs. Whatnot hadn't been standing near the booth. I've also got all kinds of literature, six almanacs, a tin cow that stands up by itself."

But the rest of the conversation doesn't matter. If you, my dear reader, go to the exhibition you will hear it also, and perhaps you will find that it is not the wonderful gathering of a thousand products, not the galaxy of industrial and commercial exhibits, that really draws the crowd. It is the inheritance of the race, the savage's love for excitement, show and society that civilization has only glossed over which packs the street cars and turns the usually quiet grounds by the Willows into a white man's potlatch of gigantic proportions. This is the psychological reason of Victoria Jubilee exhibition as found by an Observer.

The Congo is one of the widest waterways on the globe if not the finest. In some parts it is so wide that vessels may pass each other and yet be out of sight.

Baby Nearly Died with Itching Rash

Mrs. M. C. Mallard, of Jasper, Ont., tells in the following letter of her child's remarkable cure by the Cuticura Remedies:

"When my boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws."

"He was bad about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long while. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment and a pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. He was cured more than twenty years ago and there has been no return of the trouble."

(Signed) Mrs. M. C. MALLARD, Jasper, Ont.

No more convincing proof of the efficacy and economy of the Cuticura Remedies could be given. As in this instance, a single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A. Send for free Cuticura Booklet on skin and scalp diseases.

HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS

WEALTH OF MATERIAL IN BRITISH ARCHIVES

Some of the Treasures Kept in the Public Records Office in London

There is a romantic article on "The National Archives"—those manuscripts of national history which fill the record office in Chancery Lane—in a recent issue of the Quarterly Review. It gives one some idea of the value of these documents, and of the care now taken of them as compared with the neglect of days gone by.

"Visitors to the interesting museum erected on the site of the old Rolls Chapel are able to view the iron-bound chests and leather pouches which formed the primitive receptacles of priceless records," says the writer. "There, too, they may see specimens of ancient charters and writs, under successive devices of the royal seal, or bearing the sign-manuals of well-remembered kings, together with tokens of a wealth of state papers and historical autographs that could scarcely be matched in any other country.

Romance of the Archives.

"The romance of the archives has also an archaeological interest which is frequently demonstrated by English antiquaries. The ancient palaces of the kings of England were naturally selected as the repositories of records; and we are told that these were as precious to our sovereigns as the relics and regalia beside which they were deposited.

"Closely connected with these ancient treasuries of records were the strong-rooms in Westminster Abbey, in the Temple Church, and in the Rolls Chapel itself, which has superseded all other repositories. From a very early date this classic site, commemorated by Matthew Paris, and associated, after his time, with a long succession of famous judges and divines, was apparently destined to be the lasting receptacle of the public records.

MSS. which were Lost.

"The earliest custody of the public records is marked by many strange vicissitudes and many quaint devices down to the year 1553, when the sixty scattered record offices of the metropolis were forced, by the pressure of public opinion, to yield up their contents to the new repository on the Rolls estate (in Chancery Lane.)

"The documentary treasures of which we are justly proud are, after all, the fortunate survivors of a great debacle. We have certainly good reasons for believing that the records preserved to us form by far the more important portion of the entire series; but even the famous Chancery enrolments are incomplete. The total loss that we have suffered in respect of original instruments and detached documents can scarcely be estimated; and apparently no serious attempt has ever been made to calculate the extent of the deficit in individual series.

"It is true that foreign archives have probably suffered more extensive damage than our own; but these losses have been largely the outcome of invasion or civil war, while ours are chiefly due to the inefficiency or apathy of the official custodians. The most incredible recital of these misdeeds may be perused in the reports of parliamentary committees during the eighteenth century; and the charges have been repeated by modern antiquaries.

Heritage of the Ages.

"Some of us will recall the brilliant passages in which the late Prof. Maitland described those shameful scenes; and a fairly comprehensive sketch will be found in the most recent story of the archives. Painful as this story is, it has a moral that must be impressed upon the public conscience. The heritage of the ages must be closely guarded by its official trustees, for moth and rust can corrupt even the treasure of kings. Unfortunately, the prerogative of the crown has for a long time past been impaired in several important particulars. During the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries legal records and state papers were removed from official custody, with complete impunity. The records of the Assize Court throughout England have been abandoned since the reign of Edward IV. to inadequate local custody, and the bulk of these records have long since perished. Even in the present day state documents are openly sold by booksellers whose title the most zealous official would scarcely venture to question.

Where MSS. Were Housed.

"Such was the treatment of the ancient archives of this country, from their earliest inception down to the accession of Queen Victoria. Their primitive, but not insecure, custody in royal palaces or churches had been excharged during the eighteenth century for emergency quarters in numerous defective repositories, where the ravages of hungry vermin and the greed of ill-paid officials completed their destruction. Here, moreover, the records were almost as inaccessible to the public as in the days when lions roared and arms clashed within the Tower, or when watchmen in coats of mail stood on guard outside the Treasury at Winchester.

Change in Keeping the MSS.

"In his first report, presented in the year after the passing of the Public Record Office Act of 1838, the then deputy-keeper, Sir Francis Palgrave, describes his official premises as consisting of certain chambers in the old Rolls house, supplemented by a stable and coach-house in the Rolls yard, while the Rolls chapel itself served as a general repository. Fifteen years elapsed before the building of the great repository in Fetter Lane was taken in hand. Since that date the aggrandisement of the Rolls office has kept pace with the vast expansion of the civil service, and the cost of the English record establishment during the last ten years has been proportionately greater than that of similar institutions elsewhere.

"In all this a great transformation has been effected, largely by the administrative ability of Sir Henry Maxwell Lyte. We now possess a fine approach to the imposing buildings which form a connected repository and official bureau. The museum displays its instructive contents, which have afforded a rich treat to hundreds of visitors and students; the corridors and search-rooms are well lighted and heated; there is a sense of cleanliness and ventilation; the shelves are filled with helpful inventories; and many other conveniences have been added, including an extension of hours, for which older readers, at least, are profoundly grateful.

TRANSPORTATION BUREAU.

British Columbia Boards of Trade Will Be Asked to Co-operate With Vancouver.

Vancouver, Sept. 30.—The question of instituting a transportation bureau in connection with the Vancouver board of trade has been agitating the members of that board for a considerable time, and at a meeting called specially to deal with this subject the important step was taken of forming a transportation bureau, which should embrace the whole of British Columbia.

It was also decided to appoint a traffic officer in connection with the bureau to look after the interests of coastwise merchants. The question of freight rates on the C. P. R. and the need of being in a position with all the necessary facts at hand to combat the arguments of the railway officials, especially at the forthcoming inquiry at Montreal, were the prime factors to set the ball rolling in this case.

HALF MILLION FOR SEWERAGE EXTENSION

Vancouver Ratepayers Will Be Asked to Sanction Loan—Board of Control Rate

Vancouver, Sept. 30.—Money is still the subject of paramount interest to the city council, for at a special meeting it was decided that the by-law to raise $75,000 for the opening of Park drive to the waterfront, should not be submitted to the people until the January elections and that the only subjects which they should be approached should be that affecting the advisability of electing a board of control, and giving opportunity for them to declare their opinion regarding the proposed loan of $500,000 to cover the cost of sewerage repairs and extensions in the city.

ELECTRIFIED PLANTS.

Crops Greatly Stimulated by the Aid of Field Dynamos.

J. H. Priestly, who has been experimenting at Bristol where he is the University Professor of Botany—in the effect of electricity upon plants, put the remarkable results before an audience at the Royal Agricultural hall London.

Both the Bristol experiments, and others conducted by J. Newman at Evesham, on many acres of electrified land, yielded parallel results.

By means of a small engine and dynamo a low-tension current was transmitted to the field by wires, and there, in a suitable outhouse, the current underwent a change to high tension through the medium of Sir Oliver Lodge's induction coil.

The general improvement this electrification effected in plant-growth represented 29 per cent. in mangolds, and 25 per cent. in strawberries. The indications generally were of an appreciable increase of nitrates in the soil so treated.

An April picking of cucumbers in five separate houses, the first two of which were not electrified, while a current was run through the other three, resulted—214, 343, 485, 487, and 424.

Electricity is now being experimented with at Evesham, Bitton (Bristol), in Scotland, and also at six places in Germany. It is being considered as a means of increasing the Egyptian cotton crop.

ACCIDENTS AT FERNIE.

Fernie, Sept. 30.—Rocko Catenaro, a driver in No. 1 south, at Coal Creek, was thrown off a car and had his leg broken. He was rushed to the Fernie hospital and will be off the active list for some weeks.

While the dinghy engine on the No. 5 side at Coal Creek was taking a switch it jumped the track and rolled down the hill, with Engineer Joe Bushman at the throttle. The engineer was thrown out and it is believed that the dinghy rolled completely over him. His left arm and leg were fractured, but by a miracle he sustained no internal injuries.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

Not Due to Cold, Wet Weather—The Trouble is Rooted in the Blood

Many people believe that the twinges and tortures of rheumatism are due to cold, damp, or wet weather, and treat themselves by rubbing with liniments and lotions. This is a serious mistake, and one which allows the disease to progress to such an extent that it is often impossible to get it out of the system.

Rheumatism comes from poisonous acid in the blood, and it must be cured through the blood. All the liniments, and rubbing, and so-called electrical treatment in the world will not cure rheumatism. This is a medical truth which every sufferer from this excruciating trouble should know.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured thousands of cases of rheumatism after all other treatment had failed. As proof we give the case of Mrs. F. X. Boisseau, St. Jerome, Que., who says: "Almost two years ago I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism. The trouble first located in my right leg, rendering all work impossible, and walking excessively difficult. I tried to cure myself by means of all sorts of liniments and lotions, but without avail. The trouble was constantly growing worse, and the pain more and more unbearable. Finally the disease spread to my other leg, and I was all but helpless, but I was completely discouraged, thinking I would be a sufferer for the rest of my life. At this time I read an advertisement in our home paper, of this trouble being cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. I first got four boxes of the Pills and after using them for several weeks I could see that the painful rheumatism was gradually disappearing. I continued taking the Pills, however, until I had used about a dozen boxes, when every symptom of the trouble had disappeared, and I could walk as freely as ever. I did not do my household work without the least trouble. I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every rheumatic sufferer."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DIES FROM INJURIES.

Prince Rupert, Sept. 30.—Charles Daly, a longshoreman, who fell near the corner of Eighth street and First avenue on Wednesday night, succumbed to his injuries.

He took a by-path which is used across a deep hollow near the spot where the accident occurred. This is covered by a single plank and is on private property. He apparently missed his footing and fell a distance of nearly twenty feet among rocks. C. Cole passed shortly after and heard groaning. An alarm was given and the man discovered with his head badly injured. He was removed to the hospital but all efforts to save his life proved ineffectual.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

The country's now in better case than 'twas in any age; for every man there is a place to earn a goodly wage; the poor man's larder's well supplied, against the winter's storms; so let us DISCONTENT rip things open wide, and spring some new reforms.

The merchant has within his till a good fat roll or two; the wheels are turning in the mill, and idle hands are few; the warehouse groans beneath its weight of costly box and bale; so let us get our gall on straight, and send some men to jail. The cities flourish and expand, all nature laughs and sings; prosperity's on every hand, and peace should spread its wings; but we shall all our time devote to this rip-snorting game; o'erlook the painting, while we note the flyspeck on the frame. There's something wrong when people thrive; there's something wrong my friend; we want to see bad times arrive, and have the banks suspend, and see the mills all close their doors, and half the merchants fail; so let us fill the air with roars, and send some men to jail!

It is not to be expected that John Cort, head of the Independent National Theatre Owners' Association, will tamely submit to seeing the syndicate invade the northwestern territory which he has been so intimately and so long connected. Still less can it be looked for that he will allow these rivals to oust him from Victoria. In the other cities that Marc Klaw is visiting his arrangements involve the erection of a new house, but here he has leased the only theatre that is affiliated with the Northwestern Theatrical Association. Those who know John Cort do not need to be told that he will have his own house here as soon as it can be put up, no matter what other plans there are. Therefore there is likely to be something doing very shortly in the matter of the new government street theatre, a lease of which for twenty years he is taking.

The leasing of the Victoria theatre to Klaw & Erlanger from the first of next year answers, temporarily at least, the question as to what would be the fate of the old house when E. R. Ricketts' lease expired. There were several conjectures as to what would become of it but none of these had to do with its continued use as a place of amusement. Any lingering idea that this might be the case appeared to receive a quietus when the syndicate announced that the owners of the property had refused to extend Mr. Ricketts' lease even to the end of the theatrical season, a matter of six months.

It is not known yet what changes the New York lease-holders will make in the house after they take it over. These will have to be pretty radical as regards the stage if we are to have the many big attractions which Marc Klaw, when here, promised that his firm would send to Victoria. As has been said before, the stage of the Victoria and its appointments are far behind the times. Presumably the structural alterations to be undertaken will be rather extensive.

The wish is general that the new lessees of the Victoria may retain the services of Clifford Denham as manager of the house. In doing so they will undoubtedly be consulting their own best interests. Mr. Denham's business ability, courtesy and urbanity have won him very many friends in this city and nothing would please them more than to see him remain as manager of the Victoria—unless fate holds something better in store for him.

Huron L. Blyden and his associate players have been delighting large houses with their presentation of that gripping old English comedy, "Charley's Aunt." The week-end is being spent in Nanaimo, and next week the company will say good-bye to Victoria for the present. The company, especially as strengthened during the last notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Board of Licensing Commissioners at its next sitting for a transfer from me to Angelo Doria of the liquor license to sell spirituous and fermented liquors by retail on the premises known as the "Ship Inn Saloon," situated at No. 317 Wharf street, Victoria, B. A new factor enters into the theatrical situation here with the advent of the Klaw & Erlanger and Frohman interests. It does not necessarily mean any more or any better attractions for Victoria than would have been available through the lately-adopted open door policy, but it does ensure that this city will have at least one up-to-date theatre—mayhap two.

While the syndicate, or what is left of them, were welcome to book here or in any other of the sixteen hundred theatres which have declared for independence, they evidently prefer to control their own houses, and the lucrative Northwestern and Pacific coast field has led them to project a circuit of theatres which will include Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Victoria and Vancouver. Although Mr. Klaw has concluded a three-year lease for the Victoria theatre, he has promised to subscribe $10,000 to the proposed citizens' theatre and to lease the house for ten years if the project goes through.

It is not to be expected that John Cort, head of the Independent National Theatre Owners' Association, will tamely submit to seeing the syndicate invade the northwestern territory which he has been so intimately and so long connected.  Blyden Stock Company.
 The Huron L. Blyden Company are on the road for the latter part of this week, returning next Monday to the Victoria theatre for their closing week in this city. Mr. Blyden promises to place on the stage his best production next week, "Facing the Music," one of the greatest of English comedies. Patrons of the Victoria can rest assured of seeing a comedy that will please the most severe critic.
 At the Lyceum.
 Manager Hunt of the Lyceum theatre will next week present, by popular request, "The Rajah," with new scenery and electrical effects. This musical play is built for laughing purposes only, depicting the tribulations of two sailors who are dropped from an airship into the beautiful grounds of the Rajah's palace. They are surprised by the Rajah's body-guard, brought before his royal highness, and condemned to be plunged in boiling oil. All the situations are ridiculous and the lines are funny. This will be the banner bill of the season and should be seen by all lovers of fun. Every Friday evening is known as amateur night, and any who desire to appear may leave their names at the box office. There is a matinee every day at three o'clock and two shows nightly.

 You may question Sir Frederick's statement but there can be no doubt whatever as to the evil effects of a close stuffy atmosphere. There should be humidity, but it must be pure and refreshing as that of the outdoor air, and it is through the introduction of fresh outdoor air and its ample humidification by means of the large Circle Waterpan that the
